Ike Launches Fight For His Defense Plan

Program Critics Talk Nonsense, President Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told the nation Thursday congressional critics are besieging his military reorganization plan with nonsense, untruth and misrepresentation.

The whole purpose of the plan, he said, is "safety with solvency" and "the country is entitled to both."

Launching the battle he has promised for his plan, Eisenhower addressed a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the International Press Institute. The speech was broadcast nationally by television and radio.

Comeback At Vinson

Eisenhower repeatedly emphasized the negative. He said his defense reorganization program will create no monstrous, Prussian-type military command. That was a direct comeback at Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the House Armed Services Committee.

Eisenhower said, too, the plan will create no czar to "overwhelm our liberty," no threat to Congress' purse string power, "no 40-billion-dollar blank check," "no swallowing up of the traditional services."

On the positive side, the chief executive said the program will stop unworthy and costly bickering among the services and establish unified combat command and strategic planning.

To cling to the idea of waging war by separate ground, sea and air forces, the former general said, would put the country in deadly peril.

Security First Concern

"I am quite sure," Eisenhower went on, "that the American people feel it is far more important to be able to hit the target than it is to haggle over who makes a weapon or who pulls a trigger."

He urged Congress to accept and apply the facts of modern military life, to sweep away the legal fog he said envelopes the authority of the secretary of defense.

The hard-hitting counterattack apparently was aimed in spots not only at disapproving members of Congress but also at some military men who are showing signs of dissent.

Scuffle Marks Indian Braves' Defense Of Land

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Tuscarora Indians, the defense of their land against the state marred by a brief outbreak of scuffling and shouting, have decided to confine themselves to passive resistance.

For the second straight day, Thursday, they foiled attempts to survey reservation land being seized for the Niagara power project. But three Indians and a white man were arrested, police withstood a brief but feverish wrestling match with a group of Indians, and two short-lived grass fires were started.

Henceforth, the Tuscaroras decided in a pow-wow, there will be no grass fires, no pushing and shoving, no shouted insults. They will just stand there and defy surveyors for the State Power Authority to take sightings through them.

The day ended with four syrveyors eyeing the nearly 150 Tuscaroras, the Tuscaroras eyeing the surveyors and 62 state troopers and Niagara County deputy sheriffs watching both sides.

No one seemed to know what Friday would bring. The surveying party said it was up to the power authority.

In Buffalo, Gov. Averell Harriman left it to the SPA, too. He told a news conference the SPA "as an independent agency and he had no authority in the matter.

"The Indians should take their case to the courts, where I am sure they will get a square deal," Harriman remarked.

The state has appropriated 1,383 acres of the Tuscarora reservation, about a fifth of the Indians' land, for a reservoir for the 600 million dollar niagara project.

The Indians contend this land was guaranteed them in a federal treaty signed in 1824. They have refused a state offer of $120,000 for the land. About 700 Indians live on the reservation.

Moscow Piano Winner Invited To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Thursday invited Van Cliburn, the young American who won an international piano contest in Moscow, to visit the White House on his return to the United States.

The invitation was extended to the 23-year-old Texan in a note Eisenhower sent to Llewellyn Thompson, this country's ambassador to the Soviet Union.

Referring to Cliburn, Eisenhower wrote Thompson: "When he returns to the United States I hope he can come to the White House so I can congratulate him personally on his triumph."

Cost-Of-Living Index Expected To Hit New High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cost of living figures for March, due to be announced next week will show still another record high, experts predicted Thursday.

Despite the recession, the prices of most things consumers buy—particularly important food items—kept right on going up.

In March, government officials said, food prices kept advancing, especially meat prices.

The government cost-of-living index has gone up in 16 of the past 18 months. It has declined only once in the past 26 months.

It now costs close to $1.23 to buy what $1 purchased back in 1947-49. At the beginning of 1956, when the current living cost climb got started, it cost $1.18 to buy the 1947-49 dollar's worth.

And the keeper of the government's living cost data—Commissioner Ewan Clague of the Labor Department Statistics Bureau—sees little hope of any early or appreciable decline.

CBS, Technician Strike Leaders Reach Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the Columbia Broadcasting System and a striking technicians' union reached an understanding Thursday that will be submitted to the 1,300 strikers.

The strike, now in its ninth day, will continue pending completion of the referendum among the strikers. That is expected to be done within 48 hours. No details of the understanding were announced pending completion of the vote.

Gilbert S. McCutcheon, federal mediator on the case, said: "Representatives of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-CIO) have authorized me to announce that an understanding has been reached in the present strike situation to refer the company's proposal for a new agreement to a referendum of the union members."

The strike has affected CBS radio and television stations at New York, Hollywood, St.Louis, San Francisco, Chicago, Milwaukee, Boston, and Hartford, Conn. The stations have continued operating but the walkout of the cameramen and other technicians has prevented broadcast of some live TV shows.

The dispute has been over new contract terms, mainly concerning wage rates, job security and work jurisdiction. The company had offered a new top rate of $185 per week. The workers have received a $175 weekly top.

President And Mamie To Weekend At Lodge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower plan to spend the weekend at their Catoctin Mountain lodge, Camp David, near Thurmont, Md.

Announcing this Thursday, press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President and the first Lady probably will leave the White House by automobile Friday about midday or perhaps after lunch.

They expect to return to Washington Sunday evening or early Monday morning.

Castro Shakes Up Commands

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Rebel leader Fidel Castro shook up his six provincial commands Thursday in an effort to prevent further bungling of strikes and sabotage attempts.

The bearded guerrilla commander tightened his organization as President Fulgencio Batista ordered more than 250,000 public service employes into the military reserve.

A rebel radio in the Sierra Maestra area of Oriente Province said Castro had called for his top lieutenants in all six provinces to appear immediately at his mountain headquarters on the eastern end of Cuba. The broadcast said Castro angrily decreed that any of his commanders who failed to show up would be shot wherever they were found.

All apparently had gone to the Sierra Maestra or were on their way. Faustino Perez, 35-year-old boss of the Havana rebel underground, reportedly was among them. Twelve of Perez' officers have accused him of fumbling in the rebels' unsuccessful uprising and general strike last week.

The broadcast hinted Castro himself had concluded Perez was responsible for the rebels' failure last Wednesday. It said commanders would be changed in cities and towns where sabotage and armed uprisings were improperly carried out.

Summit Talk Discussions Under Way

U.S. Ambassador, Gromyko Confer For 35 Minutes

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson opened discussions Thursday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on preparations for a summit conference.

Thompson was summoned to the Foreign Office and talked for 35 minutes with Gromyko. The U.S. envoy was smiling, but noncommittal when he departed.

The official Tass news agency confirmed that the meeting resulted from a note the Big Three Western Powers sent the Soviet government Wednesday. The note offered to begin presummit talks at the diplomatic level.

West Envoys Confer

The brief Tass announcement said: "Gromyko invited L. E. Thompson, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, to the Foreign Ministry and discussed with him questions connected with preparations for a summit conference."

Thompson said he had received no written statement from Gromyko and declined further comment.

Reporters asked him whether things looked good.

Thompson again declined comment.

Exploratory Sessions

It appeared that Thompson was to fill in his colleagues on the Gromyko meeting.

The Western Allies have accepted the Soviet proposal made April 11 for a diplomatic level meeting, but only to explore major issues fully before they were sent up to higher levels.

The Soviet idea was that the diplomats should meet here to decide only the place and date of a summit meeting, thus committing the West to a top-level meeting before it could ascertain the possibility of any success.

NATO Ministers Endorse Atom Missile Bases

PARIS (AP) — Western defense ministers ended their conference Thursday with a strong display of solidarity, bolstered by a report that France has agreed in principle to the stationing of American-built missile bases and nuclear warheads on her soil.

A communique winding up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers' three days of meetings said the conferees endorsed plans for a ground force in central Europe backed by a network of medium-range missile bases capable of hurling nuclear warheads into the Soviet Union.

The ministers also endorsed plans for coordinated research and production of new weapons and confirmed support of NATO strategy as outlined by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe.

A senior official said Norstad advised the ministers of France's agreement in principle to the bases. A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said negotiations with the United States now are under way. If successfully concluded, these talks could lead to establishment of rocket-launching bases in France.

Train Robber Misses $150,000 By One Day

SYDNEY, N.S., (AP)—A masked gunman locked up two clerks and robbed a mail car as a Canadian National Railways express train sped northward toward Sydney early Thursday. He missed a haul of more than $150,000 by one day.

The bandit's take was not determined immediately. Police and postal officials said he got at least 38 packages of registered mail and two 25-pound packages of stamps.

The train took more than $150,000 in cash to Sydney banks Wednesday to meet the payrolls of 10,000 steel workers and coal miners.

U.S., Soviet Compete For Customers At Opening Of Brussels World's Fair

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union staged a peaceful tug-of-war at the World's Fair opening in a bold bid to galvanize attention on their different ways of life.

Thousands swarmed into both shows. They saw graphic exhibits of life under communism; and on the other side of the road, some of the fruits of free enterprise.

Neither country kept any count of the milling throngs but there seemed to be general agreement that the U.S. building pulled in more people.

Each nation spent millions of dollars in setting up two splendid pavilions at the first World's Fair to be held since the one in New York 19 years ago.

The big show which opened Thursday will go on until Oct. 19.

Its Belgian backers believe 50 million people will come to see the sights. The sights include, of course, far more than the Soviet and American bids to capture man's imagination. More than 50 nations are represented. Belgium, the host country, has a staggering exhibit of its own.

But everywhere on this cold inaugural day, two questions were repeated by the shivering crowds:

"Have you seen the Russians?"

"Yes, have you seen the Americans?"

On the first day of the fair, opened by Belgium's bachelor King Baudouin in an overcoat, the United States and the U.S.S.R. had vastly contrasting attractions.

The big hit of the Soviet show was its model of the globe-circling Sputnik. With good reason, perhaps, the United States exhibited no artificial satellites.

The attraction that caught most eyes at the American pavilion was a fashion show with live girls wearing American - made dresses and brief bathing suits.

"Look at those girls," gasped a Swede, "the Americans don't have to show anything else."

"For instance," said Mrs. Katherine Howard, deputy fair commissioner, "our voting machines. They reveal the way of the secret ballot."

Indo Troops Enter Padang

Major Rebel Stronghold Threatened

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian government troops assaulting Padang, capital of rebel Sumatra, are meeting heavy resistance, a navy spokesman said Friday.

The government announced Thursday night that thousands of infantrymen and Marine commandos were moving into the important port city after a massive amphibious landing on beaches half a mile from the city.

The assault was timed to coincide with seizure of the Padang airport, four miles north of the capital, by parachute troopers.

Maj. Marid, the navy spokesman, was unable to say whether the government troops had been able to occupy Padang.

City's Fate Unknown

"The situation is not clear yet," he said. "We do not have definite news. We are awaiting further reports."

Twenty-six hours after the seaborne troops made their long-awaited landing, the fate of the half-deserted city of 150,000 still was a question here.

(The rebel Padang radio asserted Thursday that rebel forces had driven away the invaders. Rebel reports in Singapore said the Jakarta air force planes had feinted at the airfield, dropping 100 straw-filled uniformed dummies from six planes to draw rebel fire.)

Warships Shell Beaches

The government offensive opened at daybreak against a reputedly thin rebel defense line stretched along 100 miles of coast north and south of Padang, last major rebel stronghold on Sumatra.

A destroyer and two corvettes shelled the beaches. Then two companies of Marine commandos spilled ashore from mustered civilian transport ships almost at Padang's threshold. Parachute troops landing simultaneously on the airfield said they encountered negligible resistance there.

Rebel dynamite blasts had been intended to make the field unusable. But it appeared that the field could be repaired rapidly for aerial reinforcement.

AEC Chairman, Senators Clash Over A-Secrecy

Strauss, who is chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission hotly denied ever withholding information the people needed to know or ever deliberately distorting any information.

At a day-long session before the Senate Disarmament subcommittee headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), Strauss clashed with Humphrey and Sens. Symington (D-Mo) and Anderson (D-NM).

"This secrecy racket has reached to the point where the people are absolutely befuddled," Symington told him. "The people are badly mixed up."

Strauss shot back: "I don't believe the commission is keeping from the people any information essential to their decision. The only thing withheld is essential defense information, the knowledge of which would be beneficial to a potential enemy."

At immediate issue was the commission's public report on an underground atomic test explosion in Nevada last fall. The report said it was detectable no more than 250 miles away. Humphrey disclosed last month it had been picked up in Alaska 2,300 miles away.

Strauss said an accumulation of honest errors caused the commission to omit the fact that the blast had been recorded 2,300 miles away instead of 250. The 250-mile report was later corrected.

While Strauss was appearing before the subcommittee, Secretary of State Dulles went before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Dulles urged approval of the administration bill to share U.S. atomic bomb know-how with the Allies, particularly Great Britain.

Without such sharing, Dulles said, Russia would achieve domination of Europe and Asia and lose interest in disarmament.

Navy Jet Breaks Altitude Record

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy announced Thursday that a jet fighter had zoomed to an unofficial world altitude record for conventional aircraft — 76,828 feet.

Vice Adm. William V. Davis Jr. made the announcement at the naval air weapons meet here. He said that a Grumman F11F-1F Super Tiger fighter rose from Edwards Air Force Base to better the previous recognized mark by approximately 6,520 feet.

Rocket-powered planes have flown higher. The X2, for instance, is credited with 126,200 feet — almost 24 miles. Recognition of the Super Tiger record is pending by U.S. and international timing authorities.

Lt. Comdr. George C. Watkins, 37, of Alhambra, Calif., made the assault on the British-held record of 70,308 feet.

Rejected Suitor Stalks, Shoots Girl, 18, To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A pathetic, one-sided romance that began on a rainy night last November ended Thursday at a midtown subway entrance. After stalking his girl friend across the city for two days, a rejected, hangdog suitor ambushed and shot her to death.

"I tried to forget her, but I couldn't," said the spurned boy friend, William Combe, 23, of Roselle Park, N.J.

The victim was pretty Diane Mercandetti, 18, a blonde. She died three hours after she was struck by three bullets, one in the back.

The shooting—or taking of his own life—apparently had been on Combe's mind for weeks. He tried March 21 to buy a gun in Manhattan but police got wind of his efforts. When he couldn't give a satisfactory reason for wanting a gun, they sent him to Bellevue Hospital.

Combe was released April 1. On Tuesday, he quit his $60-a-week clerk's job with a Union, N.J., firm, and went to Baltimore where he succeeded in obtaining a gun.

He had been forlornly trailing the girl off and on for weeks, at first merely to see her. Tuesday night, with the gun, he found her again but told police: "I just couldn't do it."

This morning, as the girl started for work, Combe was waiting at the foot of a subway entrance at 8th Ave. and 44th St., a block west of Times Square.

Police quoted him as saying: "She came walking down and when she was about four feet from me I started shooting. I don't know how many times I fired. I just kept pulling the trigger."

One stray shot wounded a bystander, David Wachs, 34, of the Bronx.

Combe abandoned the gun, went to a nearby tavern, telephoned police headquarters and said: "I just shot a girl."

House Group Plan Provides Direct Grants

Federal Reserve Board Takes Steps To Curb Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board launched some new financial maneuverings Thursday to combat the recession, and a House group pushed a bill for outright relief grants for the unemployed.

These far-apart attacks on a common problem came amid Senate debate on whether the Eisenhower administration is doing what it should to meet the situation.

The Federal Reserve dropped the discount rate charged member banks who borrow from reserve banks to 1¾ per cent at New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Minneapolis.

The rate had been 2¼ per cent in these cities, as it continues for the present in the other seven Federal Reserve districts.

Reserves Reduced

In a separate move, the Federal Reserve reduced the amount of reserves which banks in New York and Chicago must maintain against demand deposits. It was explained this step was linked to the export of about 600 million dollars of gold in recent months, which had the effect of tightening the domestic money supply.

In a major action at the Capitol, House Ways and Means Committee Democrats reached tentative agreement on a billion-dollar emergency plan for relief of unemployed workers. This would be financed wholly by the federal government.

The program, going beyond a plan advanced by President Eisenhower, will be put to a committee vote Friday. Chairman Mills (D-Ark) said he expected it would be called up in the House next week.

The proposed relief bill would apply both to jobless workers insured under state compensation programs and those who are not now eligible for jobless pay.

Tentative Compromise

It has been estimated that about 60 per cent of the present five million unemployed are now covered by state programs, and 40 per cent are not covered.

The tentative compromise would provide 16 weeks additional unemployment compensation benefits to workers who have exhausted their benefits under present state programs.

President Eisenhower asked for not more than a 50 per cent extension of the number of weeks now provided by the states. This would mean a maximum of 13 additional weeks in the larger industrial states, and less in most others.

The Democratic program also would provide the same 16 weeks of benefits to workers not covered by unemployment insurance, and who do not now qualify for any jobless pay.

Eisenhower's program made no provision for unemployed workers not covered by state programs.

Renda Winner Against UAW

DETROIT (AP)—Scrap dealer Carl Renda Thursday won a $400,000 verdict against the United Auto Workers Union and four of its aides in his damage suit charging malicious prosecution in the 1948 shooting of Walter P. Reuther.

One of the defendants, Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, called the verdict "an obvious miscarriage of justice" and said the union will appeal the decision.

Renda demanded 4½ million dollar damages at the start of the trial-five months ago. He charged the union sought to pin the Reuther shooting on him by paying Donald Ritchie of Windsor, Ont., $5,000 to testify against him.

Renda was one of four men named in a warrant four years ago charging them with conspiracy to shoot the UAW president. The warrant was dropped after Ritchie repudiated his story.

The jury's verdict was against the union, Mazey, Harold Cranefield, UAW legal counsel; Jack T. Conway, Reuther's administrative assistant, and Samuel J. Henderson, a private detective employed by the union.

The official Tass news agency confirmed that the meeting resulted from a note the Big Three Western Powers sent the Soviet government Wednesday. The note offered to begin presummit talks at the diplomatic level.

West Envoys Confer

The brief Tass announcement said: "Gromyko invited L. E. Thompson, U.S. ambassador to the Soviet Union, to the Foreign Ministry and discussed with him questions connected with preparations for a summit conference."

Thompson said he had received no written statement from Gromyko and declined further comment.

Reporters asked him whether things looked good.

Thompson again declined comment.

Exploratory Sessions

It appeared that Thompson was to fill in his colleagues on the Gromyko meeting.

The Western Allies have accepted the Soviet proposal made April 11 for a diplomatic level meeting, but only to explore major issues fully before they were sent up to higher levels.

The Soviet idea was that the diplomats should meet here to decide only the place and date of a summit meeting, thus committing the West to a top-level meeting before it could ascertain the possibility of any success.

NATO Ministers Endorse Atom Missile Bases

PARIS (AP) — Western defense ministers ended their conference Thursday with a strong display of solidarity, bolstered by a report that France has agreed in principle to the stationing of American-built missile bases and nuclear warheads on her soil.

A communique winding up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers' three days of meetings said the conferees endorsed plans for a ground force in central Europe backed by a network of medium-range missile bases capable of hurling nuclear warheads into the Soviet Union.

The ministers also endorsed plans for coordinated research and production of new weapons and confirmed support of NATO strategy as outlined by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme Allied commander in Europe.

A senior official said Norstad advised the ministers of France's agreement in principle to the bases. A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said negotiations with the United States now are under way. If successfully concluded, these talks could lead to establishment of rocket-launching bases in France.

Train Robber Misses $150,000 By One Day

SYDNEY, N.S., (AP)—A masked gunman locked up two clerks and robbed a mail car as a Canadian National Railways express train sped northward toward Sydney early Thursday. He missed a haul of more than $150,000 by one day.

The bandit's take was not determined immediately. Police and postal officials said he got at least 38 packages of registered mail and two 25-pound packages of stamps.

The train took more than $150,000 in cash to Sydney banks Wednesday to meet the payrolls of 10,000 steel workers and coal miners.

Indo Troops Enter Padang

Major Rebel Stronghold Threatened

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian government troops assaulting Padang, capital of rebel Sumatra, are meeting heavy resistance, a navy spokesman said Friday.

The government announced Thursday night that thousands of infantrymen and Marine commandos were moving into the important port city after a massive amphibious landing on beaches half a mile from the city.

The assault was timed to coincide with seizure of the Padang airport, four miles north of the capital, by parachute troopers.

Maj. Marid, the navy spokesman, was unable to say whether the government troops had been able to occupy Padang.

City's Fate Unknown

"The situation is not clear yet," he said. "We do not have definite news. We are awaiting further reports."

Twenty-six hours after the seaborne troops made their long-awaited landing, the fate of the half-deserted city of 150,000 still was a question here.

(The rebel Padang radio asserted Thursday that rebel forces had driven away the invaders. Rebel reports in Singapore said the Jakarta air force planes had feinted at the airfield, dropping 100 straw-filled uniformed dummies from six planes to draw rebel fire.)

Warships Shell Beaches

The government offensive opened at daybreak against a reputedly thin rebel defense line stretched along 100 miles of coast north and south of Padang, last major rebel stronghold on Sumatra.

A destroyer and two corvettes shelled the beaches. Then two companies of Marine commandos spilled ashore from mustered civilian transport ships almost at Padang's threshold. Parachute troops landing simultaneously on the airfield said they encountered negligible resistance there.

Rebel dynamite blasts had been intended to make the field unusable. But it appeared that the field could be repaired rapidly for aerial reinforcement.

AEC Chairman, Senators Clash Over A-Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators accus ! Adm. Lewis L. Strauss Thursday of getting the American people "absolutely befuddled" over atomic matters.

Strauss, who is chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission hotly denied ever withholding information the people needed to know or ever deliberately distorting any information.

At a day-long session before the Senate Disarmament subcommittee headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), Strauss clashed with Humphrey and Sens. Symington (D-Mo) and Anderson (D-NM).

"This secrecy racket has reached to the point where the people are absolutely befuddled," Symington told him. "The people are badly mixed up."

Strauss shot back: "I don't believe the commission is keeping from the people any information essential to their decision. The only thing withheld is essential defense information, the knowledge of which would be beneficial to a potential enemy."

At immediate issue was the commission's public report on an underground atomic test explosion in Nevada last fall. The report said it was detectable no more than 250 miles away. Humphrey disclosed last month it had been picked up in Alaska 2,300 miles away.

Strauss said an accumulation of honest errors caused the commission to omit the fact that the blast had been recorded 2,300 miles away instead of 250. The 250-mile report was later corrected.

While Strauss was appearing before the subcommittee, Secretary of State Dulles went before the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

Dulles urged approval of the administration bill to share U.S. atomic bomb know-how with the Allies, particularly Great Britain.

Without such sharing, Dulles said, Russia would achieve domination of Europe and Asia and lose interest in disarmament.

Navy Jet Breaks Altitude Record

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP) — The Navy announced Thursday that a jet fighter had zoomed to an unofficial world altitude record for conventional aircraft — 76,828 feet.

Vice Adm. William V. Davis Jr. made the announcement at the naval air weapons meet here. He said that a Grumman F11F-1F Super Tiger fighter rose from Edwards Air Force Base to better the previous recognized mark by approximately 6,520 feet.

Rocket-powered planes have flown higher. The X2, for instance, is credited with 126,200 feet — almost 24 miles. Recognition of the Super Tiger record is pending by U.S. and international timing authorities.

Lt. Comdr. George C. Watkins, 37, of Alhambra, Calif., made the assault on the British-held record of 70,308 feet.

Rejected Suitor Stalks, Shoots Girl, 18, To Death

NEW YORK (AP)—A pathetic, one-sided romance that began on a rainy night last November ended Thursday at a midtown subway entrance. After stalking his girl friend across the city for two days, a rejected, hangdog suitor ambushed and shot her to death.

"I tried to forget her, but I couldn't," said the spurned boy friend, William Combe, 23, of Roselle Park, N.J.

The victim was pretty Diane Mercandetti, 18, a blonde. She died three hours after she was struck by three bullets, one in the back.

The shooting—or taking of his own life—apparently had been on Combe's mind for weeks. He tried March 21 to buy a gun in Manhattan but police got wind of his efforts. When he couldn't give a satisfactory reason for wanting a gun, they sent him to Bellevue Hospital.

Combe was released April 1. On Tuesday, he quit his $60-a-week clerk's job with a Union, N.J., firm, and went to Baltimore where he succeeded in obtaining a gun.

He had been forlornly trailing the girl off and on for weeks, at first merely to see her. Tuesday night, with the gun, he found her again but told police: "I just couldn't do it."

This morning, as the girl started for work, Combe was waiting at the foot of a subway entrance at 8th Ave. and 44th St., a block west of Times Square.

Police quoted him as saying: "She came walking down and when she was about four feet from me I started shooting. I don't know how many times I fired. I just kept pulling the trigger."

One stray shot wounded a bystander, David Wachs, 34, of the Bronx.

Combe abandoned the gun, went to a nearby tavern, telephoned police headquarters and said: "I just shot a girl."

House Group Plan Provides Direct Grants

Federal Reserve Board Takes Steps To Curb Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board launched some new financial maneuverings Thursday to combat the recession, and a House group pushed a bill for outright relief grants for the unemployed.

These far-apart attacks on a common problem came amid Senate debate on whether the Eisenhower administration is doing what it should to meet the situation.

The Federal Reserve dropped the discount rate charged member banks who borrow from reserve banks to 1¾ per cent at New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Minneapolis.

The rate had been 2¼ per cent in these cities, as it continues for the present in the other seven Federal Reserve districts.

Reserves Reduced

In a separate move, the Federal Reserve reduced the amount of reserves which banks in New York and Chicago must maintain against demand deposits. It was explained this step was linked to the export of about 600 million dollars of gold in recent months, which had the effect of tightening the domestic money supply.

In a major action at the Capitol, House Ways and Means Committee Democrats reached tentative agreement on a billion-dollar emergency plan for relief of unemployed workers. This would be financed wholly by the federal government.

The program, going beyond a plan advanced by President Eisenhower, will be put to a committee vote Friday. Chairman Mills (D-Ark) said he expected it would be called up in the House next week.

The proposed relief bill would apply both to jobless workers insured under state compensation programs and those who are not now eligible for jobless pay.

Tentative Compromise

It has been estimated that about 60 per cent of the present five million unemployed are now covered by state programs, and 40 per cent are not covered.

The tentative compromise would provide 16 weeks additional unemployment compensation benefits to workers who have exhausted their benefits under present state programs.

President Eisenhower asked for not more than a 50 per cent extension of the number of weeks now provided by the states. This would mean a maximum of 13 additional weeks in the larger industrial states, and less in most others.

The Democratic program also would provide the same 16 weeks of benefits to workers not covered by unemployment insurance, and who do not now qualify for any jobless pay.

Eisenhower's program made no provision for unemployed workers not covered by state programs.

Renda Winner Against UAW

DETROIT (AP)—Scrap dealer Carl Renda Thursday won a $400,000 verdict against the United Auto Workers Union and four of its aides in his damage suit charging malicious prosecution in the 1948 shooting of Walter P. Reuther.

One of the defendants, Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, called the verdict "an obvious miscarriage of justice" and said the union will appeal the decision.

Renda demanded 4½ million dollar damages at the start of the trial-five months ago. He charged the union sought to pin the Reuther shooting on him by paying Donald Ritchie of Windsor, Ont., $5,000 to testify against him.

Renda was one of four men named in a warrant four years ago charging them with conspiracy to shoot the UAW president. The warrant was dropped after Ritchie repudiated his story.

The jury's verdict was against the union, Mazey, Harold Cranefield, UAW legal counsel; Jack T. Conway, Reuther's administrative assistant, and Samuel J. Henderson, a private detective employed by the union.

U.S., Soviet Compete For Customers At Opening Of Brussels World's Fair

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union staged a peaceful tug-of-war at the World's Fair opening in a bold bid to galvanize attention on their different ways of life.

Thousands swarmed into both shows. They saw graphic exhibits of life under communism; and on the other side of the road, some of the fruits of free enterprise.

Neither country kept any count of the milling throngs but there seemed to be general agreement that the U.S. building pulled in more people.

Each nation spent millions of dollars in setting up two splendid pavilions at the first World's Fair to be held since the one in New York 19 years ago.

The big show which opened Thursday will go on until Oct. 19.

Its Belgian backers believe 50 million people will come to see the sights. The sights include, of course, far more than the Soviet and American bids to capture man's imagination. More than 50 nations are represented. Belgium, the host country, has a staggering exhibit of its own.

But everywhere on this cold inaugural day, two questions were repeated by the shivering crowds:

"Have you seen the Russians?"

"Yes, have you seen the Americans?"

On the first day of the fair, opened by Belgium's bachelor King Baudouin in an overcoat, the United States and the U.S.S.R. had vastly contrasting attractions.

The big hit of the Soviet show was its model of the globe-circling Sputnik. With good reason, perhaps, the United States exhibited no artificial satellites.

The attraction that caught most eyes at the American pavilion was a fashion show with live girls wearing American - made dresses and brief bathing suits.

"Look at those girls," gasped a Swede, "the Americans don't have to show anything else."

"For instance," said Mrs. Katherine Howard, deputy fair commissioner, "our voting machines. They reveal the way of the secret ballot."

Rep. Moss Charges President Tightens Pentagon Secrecy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Moss (D-Calif) says President Eisenhower has issued orders for tighter control over Defense Department information.

Under the new instructions, Moss declared, abuse of the security system would become worse. He said the orders were issued in the last few days as a curb on interservice rivalries.

Moss addressed Thursday's opening session of the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editor, which also heard a defense by Eisenhower of the Defense Department reorganization plan.

Moss, who is chairman of the House Government Information subcommittee, told the 400 editors that Asst. Secretary of Defense Murray Snyder apparently had been set up as the undisputed censor of what the public shall know about the vast military establishment, under Eisenhower's recent instructions.

He coupled with this a statement that the Defense Department has manipulated information in an attempt to manage the news about missiles and satellites.

Moss asserted that the Pentagon had issued secret orders to muzzle the experts who could explain the predicament after the Soviet Union sent up the first Sputnik.

"Security has been perverted as a tool of censorship. Controversy has been smothered and shortcomings hidden in the name of national security," Moss said.

"The nation no longer can afford the withholding and manipulation of information merely to suit policies," he said.

Moss is sponsor of a no-secrecy bill approved unanimously by the House. The House action was described in another speech before the editors as a first dent in the wall of secrecy that has grown up in the government since World War II.

The description was applied by Herber Brucker, editor of the Hartford (Conn.) Courant and chairman of the ASNE committee on freedom of information.

Va. Dope Laws Are Challenged

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia's right to legislate against dope peddlers has been challenged in Federal District Court at Alexandria.

Congress has taken over legislating in the narcotics field and state laws on the subject are void, it is argued in a civil suit brought against Atty. Gen. A. S. Harrison Jr.

The suit was filed by Vincent J. Todaro of Fairfax County who faces narcotics charges in Fairfax County Circuit Court.

Harrison's office indicated here Thursday the case is an extremely important one, not only for Virginia but for champions of state sovereignty.

The Steve Nelson case is cited as argument against the validity of Virginia's narcotics laws in the papers served on Harrison.

In that case the U.S. Supreme Court threw out a Pennsylvania conviction of Nelson under that state's subversive laws. It said Congress had pre-empted state legislation in the subversive field. Todaro has petitioned the Federal District Court for a temporary injunction against Harrison and Fairfax Commonwealth's Atty. Robert Fitzgerald to restrain them from prosecuting Todaro under the state narcotics laws.

He further asks the court to appoint a three-judge court to pass on the constitutionality of the Virginia anti-narcotics law. And he asks a stay of all proceedings against him until a final determination of this.

Hearing To Resume On Alaska Statehood

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee Thursday set April 24 for resumption of a hearing on a bill to grant statehood to Alaska.

This announcement by Chairman Howard Smith (D-Va) came amid reports that the House Democratic leadership has agreed on a move to take the bill out of the hands of the committee and put it before the House for a vote. Smith's opposition has kept the measure bottled up in the committee.

Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, House Democratic leader, told statehood supporters he is willing to schedule the bill for House consideration whenever they desire.

Tunisia Gives France Week To Compromise

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba warned Thursday that h will take the French-Tunisian dispute to the United Nations again within a week unless a new French government immediately compromises.

Bourguiba's statement virtually assured a Security Council discussion of the dispute, since formation of a new Paris government is expected to take much longer than a week.

The government of Premier Felix Gaillard resigned after the National Assembly rejected Tuesday night a compromise plan recommended by the U.S.-British good offices team which is seeking to ease French-Tunisian relations.

"I cannot wait a very long time," Bourguiba said in his weekly broadcast to his people. "The last time it took President Rene Coty six weeks to find a new government. I cannot wait while France goes through this process again... I want to see a new French government within seven days."

He predicted that if he again takes aggression charges to the Security Council, Tunisia will win a great victory. He added that unless the French compromise immediately he no longer will consider himself obligated to accept the compromise plan worked out by U.S. envoy Robert Murphy and British diplomat Harold Beeley.

The team recommended direct negotiations between France and Tunisia to set a timetable for withdrawal of all French forces from Tunisia except those at the big Bizerte naval base.

12 Boys Jailed, Fined For Fight

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP)—Twelve teen-age boys Thursday were each sentenced to 60 days in jail and fined $50 for their part in a gang fight in Parkland, Md., last week.

Judge Emmett H. Nanna Jr. of Prince Georges County Juvenile Court imposed maximum sentences for disorderly conduct after he waived Juvenile Court jurisdiction over seven juveniles. He is permitted to sit also as a trial magistrate.

The fight, in which one youth was wounded by a shotgun blast, occurred April 8.

"You can't take the law into your own hands. This business of 'if we get ours, they'll get theirs' cannot exist."

Of those sentenced, six are 18 years of age, one is 17, four are 16, and one is 15.

Youth Facing Execution Attempts To Absolve Pal

BALTIMORE (AP)—A young man sentenced to the gas chamber for killing a bartender pleaded in court Thursday that a companion be released from the murder charge.

Charles W. Stansburg, 22, said co-defendant James D. Fitzgerald was innocent of the shooting and added, "I want to die, if I have to, with a clear conscience.

"I wouldn't want to go to the gas chamber with whatever happens to Jimmy on my conscience. I have resolved, regardless of how much it hurts me, to rectify a wrong."

Stansbury was convicted of murdering Ralph Sliger, 35, during a holdup in the Coronet Bar on Jan. 16. Fitzgerald, 23, and Marvin Rich are also accused of the murder.

With Stansbury called as a defense witness in Fitzgerald's trial, he attempted to absolve his chum.

Both contended that the robbery of the bar was a spontaneous venture steered by Stansbury. They denied making written statements produced in court by police which they allegedly admitted the stickup had been planned because the three men needed money.

Fitzgerald was quoted in a statement as saying "we decided we would get some money some way that night" and agreed to steal an automobile for their spree.

Fitzgerald was further quoted as telling Stansbury, ". . .if the man pulled a gun, well, to scare him by shooting him in the leg if he had to."

Testifying in his own defense, he claimed in Youth Court he had no idea his pal was planning a robbery.

He told the jury that Stansbury was a "mixed up person who approached things from the violent side."

The young defendant said Stansbury forced him to take money out of the cash register after the shooting and that Stansbury threatened him with a gun.

Motorcyclists Who Aped Cops Beat Parking Rap

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Arlington, Va., men were excused from paying parking fines Thursday when they demonstrated to a judge that they had parked their motorcycles exactly as eight policemen had done.

The men had been given tickets for parking their motorcycles at an angle to the curb. When the men appeared in Municipal Court they showed Judge George D. Neilson an enlargement of a photograph they had taken of eight police motorcycles lined up in the same diagonal manner in front of police headquarters.

The judge, in excusing the men from paying the fines, observed that they had been technically guilty but said the police should set a better example.

District of Columbia regulations state that a motorcycle shall be parked parallel to a curb.

The motorcyclists were Lawrence W. Brown, 29; George S. Hellyer, 27, and Paul N. Koenix, 20.

Two other Arlington men — Henry W. Henderson, 27, and Basil J. Jewell, 19—weren't so fortunate. They had forfeited their collateral and therefore did not appear in court.

Gary Cooper Has Plastic Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Cooper has had some facial blemishes removed by plastic surgery.

The operation was performed at Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

A hospital spokesman said the surgery was not the type popularly known as face-lifting, and that the veteran movie star's features are as rugged as ever.

The announcement said Cooper entered the hospital Wednesday for reconstructive plastic surgery of internal injuries resulting from a broken nose and the removal of a facial scar and cyst of long standing, resulting from accidents.

Segregation Victory

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Johannes Strijdom's government, best-known for its stern policy of racial segregation, rode into power Thursday for another five years on a tide of Nationalist votes.

With only three out of 156 districts to be heard from, Strijdom's Nationalists had 100 seats to 53 for the opposition United party.

Cohen Refuses To Give Account Of Stewardship

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate probers were told Thursday it cost Local 107 of the Teamsters Union in Philadelphia $241,926.65 to have Ray Cohen as its secretary-treasurer from Jan. 1, 1954, to Sept. 18, 1957.

Called before the Senate Rackets Committee and asked for an accounting of his stewardship, Cohen refused to testify on the ground that he could not be forced to give evidence against himself.

Committee investigators had just testified that Cohen, after gaining control of the local in 1954, had voted substantial retroactive payments to himself and his attorney, Thomas D. McBride, now the Democratic attorney general of Pennsylvania.

Members of the committee tried in vain to find out how $250,000 in union funds was disbursed during Cohen's tenure in office.

"Did some of the money go to you personally?" asked Robert F. Kennedy, committee counsel.

It was at this point that Cohen invoked the Fifth Amendment, which protects persons against self-incrimination.

"I think you should resign," Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass) told him. "I don't think you are fit to lead a union."

Carl Sandburg won Pulitzer prizes in the fields of history and poetry. In history, he won the 1940 award for Abraham Lincoln, the War Years. In poetry, his Complete Poems took the 1951 prize.

Security Ruling Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled Thursday the Defense Department has the sole right to decide what workers will get security clearance in plants holding government contracts.

The unanimous ruling was handed down in the case of William L. Greene whose clearance for access to secret information was revoked by the Navy.

As a result, Greene in April 1953 lost his $18,000-a-year job as vice president in charge of engineering and general manager of Engineering and Research Corp. (ERCO), of Riverdale, Md.

Greene contended the action of the Secretary of the Navy was illegal.

Speaking for a three-judge panel of the appellate court, Judge George T. Washington said Greene was not entitled to judicial relief despite "the reality of the injury."

Washington wrote that the courts cannot examine into the merits of Greene's claim that he is trustworthy.

THEY RE-GREW HAIR!

IN 9 MONTHS

IN 6 MONTHS

Mr. H. Newhouse, Woodale, Ill. Mrs. H. Haller, Miami, Florida
Noted hair expert warns, "Don't put it off until it's all off."

Hair Specialist Here Saturday
Will Show How To Save Hair and Prevent Baldness

CORAL GABLES, Fla. —New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Saturday, April 19, only.

Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge, representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 p.m. Saturday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can't Be Helped?

For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss—dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea—can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Harlow method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: "Don't wait until it's too late."

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastinatiion. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements.

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or, "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95%

"Actually, our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a 'doubter' or a 'putter-offer' where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Harlow Hair Experts will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, Saturday only between 1:00 and 8:00 p.m., for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private.

Inadequate Budget Blamed For Jail Break

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Sheriff Joseph W. Alton Thursday blamed an inadequate budget for the escape of four prisoners from Anne Arundel County jail.

A trusty and three other inmates escaped from the jail Wednesday night after knocking the lone guard unconscious. They were recaptured in Fredericksburg, Va., and were back in jail 13 hours after their escape.

Alton said he talked with the grand jury foreman last week about the possibility of such an escape and has "told every grand jury since 1951 of the danger of having only one man on duty during the 4 p.m. to midnight shift.

"I only hope that those responsible for setting my budget will make it possible to put an additional guard on that shift before someone else is injured or possibly killed."

The last escape from the county jail took place three years ago during the evening shift. The same guard, William Wiedefeld, suffered head injuries in that escape too.

Warden Lawrence Vlna said a trusty, Grover Leddy, 18, of nearby Odenton, sneaked up on Wiedefeld last night as the 62-year-old guard was preparing to lock up six prisoners for the night in an eight-cell unit.

Vlna said Leddy struck Wiedefeld on the head with his fist and threw him against the bars where he was grabbed and beaten by other prisoners.

Three prisoners decided to stay put when Leddy opened the doors of the 8-cell unit. There were more than 60 prisoners in other cells at the time.

Escaping with Leddy were Wallace Reid, 18, of Churchton, Md.; John Scanlon, 30, of Green Haven, Md., and William Davis, 19, of Annapolis.

Leddy was serving a 60-day sentence for motor vehicle violations. Reid and Scanlon were awaiting trial on larceny charges, and Davis was accused of violating parole and stealing.

Police said the four fugitives broke into a service station owned by Leddy's father, Jesse D. Ledy, and stole some cash. Then they stole a car by wiring the starter with tinfoil.

They were apprehended about five hours later when a Virginia state trooper became suspicious of the car and decided to check it. Trooper H. F. Fitzgerald arrested the men on suspicion of auto theft after Scanlon, the driver, failed to produce a driver's license.

Fitzgerald said the men offered no resistance and admitted they were escapees after he said he planned a check with Maryland authorities.

The men waived extradition and were turned over to Alton in Fredericksburg. The sheriff said they will be charged with assault and battery, escape, breaking and entering and car theft.

Wiedefeld, a former employe of the Naval Academy, has been a guard at the county jail for several years. He was released from Anne Arundel General Hospital after nine stitches were taken in cuts on his head.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

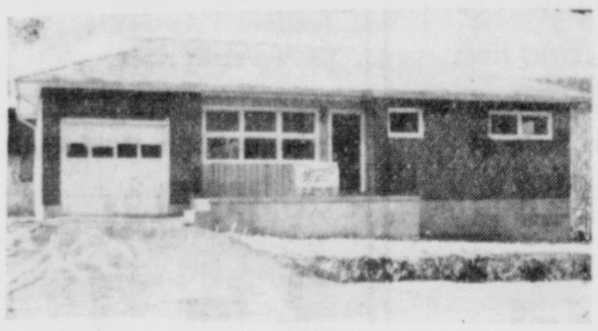

What is said to be the easiest and "cleaningest" rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical as ½ gallon of concentrate cleans three 9 x 12 rugs.

Hypnosis Used To Cure Warts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dr. Jacob H. Conn, assistant professor of psychiatry at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, told 200 Maryland physicians Thursday that he cured a young woman of recurring warts within two weeks through hypnosis.

Dr. Conn made the report at the 160th annual meeting of the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland.

He made the demonstration on the same patient before the group.

After hypnotizing her, he took her hand and said:

"This is where the wart is. I will touch it. It has a tingling feeling and the circulation has been restored. The wart will disappear. Every day you will notice a gradual shrinking and the wart will never return."

He asked her how she felt, then brought her out of the spell.

He also told of helping through hypnosis a 15-year-old boy who had suffered from headaches and was tired and irritable. The boy's mother told the doctors that there had been a marked change in her son and that today he was a perfect gentleman and quite happy.

Ring Switch Costs Man Prison Term

BALTIMORE (AP)—Elijah James Bell, 27, tried a quick switch at a jewelry store—substituting a $735 diamond ring with a cheap imitation. It cost him a four-year prison sentence.

He was sentenced by Criminal Court Judge Reuben Oppenheimer after his conviction on the slick switch job and burglary of an office in which two typewriters were taken.

Man With $1,000 No Longer On Relief

BALTIMORE (AP)—A man who was walking around with more than $1,000 in his pockets had the money in a bank Thursday. But he wasn't on the welfare rolls any longer.

Police picked up Rudulph Owens, 53, for questioning Sunday after someone complained about a man in the neighborhood with a knife on his person.

Officers found no knife but they discovered $1,047 in bills stuffed into three wallets and a purse. After investigating they determined it belonged to him. Six other persons who heard about the case claimed the money but could not say what denominations the money was in.

Vets' Federal Medical Care Curbs Urged

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 160-year-old Maryland medical society Thursday urged Congress to curb federal medical care to all veterans except those with service-connected disabilities.

And apparently the movement has the backing of the American Medical Assn.

The Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland approved recommendations which included:

1. Limit federal care of all veterans to service-connected disabilities.

2. Care for veterans with those service-connected disabilities in armed forces hospitals, where such facilities are located in the veterans' home towns, or by civil hospitals on a home-town basis.

3. Investigate the cost of patient care in Veterans Administration hospitals in Maryland as compared with the cost of patient care in civil hospitals.

A faculty committee reported it received a letter from the AMA which said "be assured that activities are just about to begin that will hearten your soul about this business of continuing inroads of VA care into private practice."

The medical meeting continues Friday.

Negro Is Released In Fatal Stabbing

FREDERICK Md. (AP) — Harry W. Johnson, Negro of Mt. Airy, was freed Thursday of manslaughter charges brought last Monday in the fatal stabbing of Melvin L. Anderson Jr., 23-year-old Negro of New Market.

Magistrate H. Reece Shoemaker dismissed the manslaughter charge after hearing testimony Anderson pulled Johnson from a car and began beating him.

Youngster Found In Zoo Duck Pen

BALTIMORE (AP) — It was dawn and a fine day for a stroll.

And when you're six years old does it matter that the zoo's a mere mile away?

When zoo employes arrived this morning they found young Raymond Plitt inside a 5-foot wire enclosure, communing with the ducks and swans.

What was he doing in the locked enclosure? they asked.

"I climbed over after a squirrel," Ray explained.

Presently police arrived in a patrol car to put an end to Ray's adventure on a spring morning. His mother—they informed him—would like to see him. She had reported him missing.

U.S. And Soviet Fair Pavilions Offer Contrast

By DOROTHY ROE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Soviet pavilion at the Brussels World Fair may have Sputnik, but the American pavilion has girls.

And, although the Soviet Union spent more than 50 million dollars on her exhibit while the United States spent less than 15 millions, Uncle Sam wins the beauty laurels, hands down.

The great circular glass-and-gold American pavilion dominates the colorful grounds. It is in happy contrast with the somewhat grim facade of the Soviet building next door, an austere rectangular structure with an ironwork arrangement on top suggesting a concentration camp.

The pretty American hostesses in their trim gray suits and bronze-color berets are much in evidence at the U.S. pavilion, as are the glamorous models exhibiting typically American clothes in a continuous fashion show.

In the Soviet bailiwick you see 10-ton machines, stony-faced male guides — and, of course, Sputnik. The Soviets will have hostesses too, they say, but at a press preview Wednesday they were nowhere in sight. An interpreter explained that their uniforms had not arrived.

The Soviets also plan to show fashions, says their commissioner general, Dimitry A. Ryjkov, but there will be no live models.

Ryjkov, a large, handsome, deadpan type, surprised the assembled international press by issuing an invitation to come to the U.S.S.R. pavilion and ask him questions. The questions — from some 2,000 correspondents of all nations — came in French, Flemish, German and English and were translated.

One question concerned the model home which is part of the Soviet exhibit. This is an apartment furnished in early mail-order modern, with somewhat primitive looking electrical appliances in the pint-size kitchenette and rudimentary plumbing in the yellow-tiled bathroom. The commissioner admitted that in 12 to 15 years the average Russian might achieve this kind of housing.

Drowning was a common form of punishment in most European countries from ancient times until the early 1600s.

Cartoonists Want To Get In Cultural Exchange Act

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now the cartoonists want to get into the international act.

Dancers, comedians and pianists have broken through the cultural Iron Curtain between here and Moscow. And so, the 400 members of the National Cartoonists Society ask: Why not us?

The cartoonists have taken a few tentative steps toward an exchange of visits. Their president, John Pierotti of the New York Post, has asked the State Department, What about it?

Its answer, roughly translated from its elegant and somewhat meandering prose: Go right ahead buddy, only we don't have any money to help you.

The cartoonists also have the enthusiastic support of at least one congressman, Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., (D) of Trenton, N.J., who forwarded their request to the State Department.

"I think it's a really good idea," Thompson said. "Cartoonists wield tremendous influence. I'd like to see three or four of them go over there."

The society has all types of cartoonists, from those who draw the so-called comics to those who illustrate ads. But presumably it's the political cartoonist who would get the most out of any exchange if the money can be raised.

Most of us don't think about cartooning as a universal language. But Pierotti makes the point that this country's Uncle Sam, England's John Bull, Russia's bear and France's Marianne are recognized the world over.

And the cartoonists' versions of Secretary of State Dulles—leering or smiling benignly, depending on the political leanings of the drawer—show up almost as frequently abroad as in the United States.

In this country cartoonists not only have influenced events, but our memories.

Take the two Roosevelts.

It's hard to think of Teddy without seeing that overflow of teeth, or of FDR without seeing the long cigarette holder and flashing smile. And isn't this at least partly due to the emphasis cartoonists put on these facial characteristics?

Two of our most respected political symbols, the Democratic donkey and Republican elephant, can be credited to one gifted cartoonist, Thomas Nast.

The elephant first appeared in 1874 as one beast in a passel of animals. It was labeled "Republican Vote" and it was to stay on as the GOP symbol.

The donkey was born four years earlier. Nast was a Republican reformer. After the death of Edwin M. Stanton, who had been Lincoln's secretary of war, Nast resented comments Democratic papers aimed at the GOP leader.

So he drew a cartoon showing a donkey kicking Stanton. The caption: "A live jackass kicking a dead lion. And such a lion! And such a jackass!"

So the donkey had an inauspicious start. But such is the power of cartoons, it's still alive—and still kicking.

Reuther Says Size Of U.S. Cars Silly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther said Wednesday the size and glitter of American automobiles are silly and the industry should get busy making moderate-priced small cars.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said this is what President Eisenhower was talking about in a news conference remark that the American people are fed up with some of the products manufacturers are trying to shove down their throats.

"I think the auto industry should make a car which at least could be parked in a single block," Reuther joked.

Mickey Cohen Fined $500 For Slugging Waiter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Cohen was fined $500 Wednesday for slugging a waiter.

Municipal Judge Gerald C. Kepple remarked as he sentenced the ex-convict, ex-gambler: "...Regardless of provocation, real or imagined, Mickey Cohen can't afford to punch anyone in the nose any more than I, as a judge, can determine cases by cracking a few heads together—as much as I might have the urge or that justice might be served in that manner."

Cohen was convicted April 7 of battery. Waiter Arthur H. Black alleged Cohen slugged him during a restaurant party Jan. 29 for singer Sammy Davis Jr.

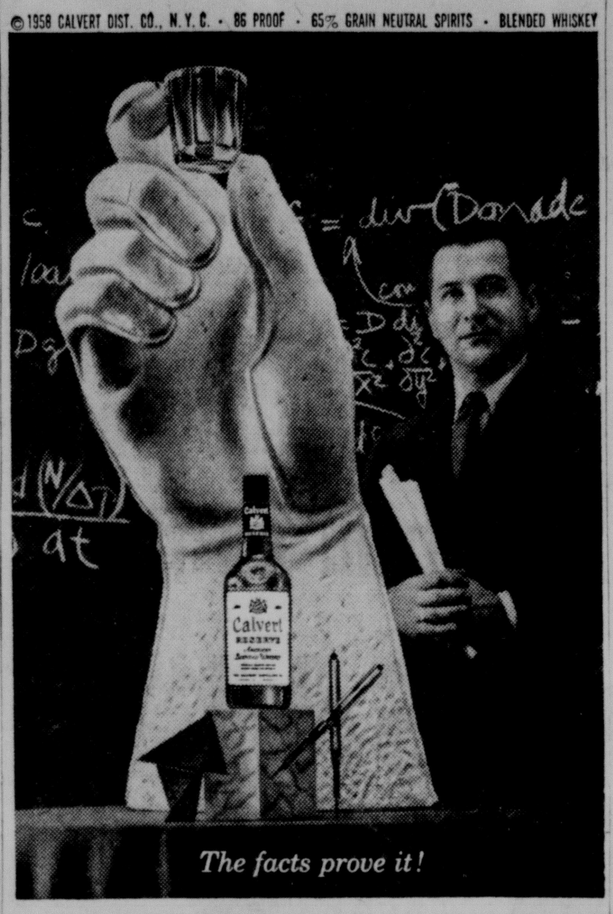

Judge Kepple denied a new-trial motion, levied the fine in lieu of a 50-day jail term and put Cohen on probation for two years. An attorney for Cohen gave notice of appeal. Judge Kepple freed the former gambler on his own recognizance pending the appeal.

MANILA (AP) — The Indonesian Embassy says Foreign Minister R. Subandrio, now in Tokyo, will arrive here Friday for talks with Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano on Indonesian-Philippines relations.

Louise Rosenbaum Sets June 1 For Wedding Date

Miss Louise Rosenbaum, fiancee of Stanley M. Miller, Baltimore, has selected June 1 for the date of their marriage. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized in the home of the bride.

A daughter of Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, 816 Buckingham Road, The Dingle, and the late Mr. Rosenbaum, the bride-elect attended Choate School, Brookline, Mass., and was graduated from Searing School, New York City. Presently she is buyer of fashion accessories and is fashion coordinator for Rosenbaum Brothers Inc. She is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Rosenbaum, who for many years resided at 217 Washington Street.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Miller, 1314 Church Hill Drive, Pikesville. He attended the University of Maryland and served two years in the Army Air Corps. An active member of the Masons and the Variety Club, Baltimore, he is associated with Maidenform Inc., of New York.

Seeds Being Sent To Friendship League

Ross Shaw, on behalf of the Cresap Society, is donating 50 packs of flower and garden seeds to the All American Friendship League, New York, he reports.

The seeds, which will be distributed in Western Europe, Japan, Korea, Mexico and South America, are to be mailed Friday, Mr. Shaw said.

Early contributors of seeds to the league include Mrs. D. W. Eisenhower, mother of President Eisenhower, whose seeds came from her own garden in Kansas, which now is a national shrine; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey.

Forsyte Saga Is Discussed

John Galsworthy definitely belongs in great literature, members of the Great Books Group of the Cumberland Branch AAUW decided at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. William Frailey, Buckingham Road, The Dingle.

Mrs. John Cupler, Mrs. Albert Eskin and Mrs. John Hafer led the discussion on Galsworthy's "The Forsyte Saga," a group of novels pertaining to the Forsyte family.

The Forsytes as Galsworthy pictured them were English people of property and consequence. The saga is the story of their lives and the part they played in English history. They are typical of their type of people, who have a strong sense of property. They are conformists, and very practical. The story covers the period from the time of Queen Victoria to World War I.

The group felt that Galsworthy "as a writer was 'tops,' his fiction is written in pure style, he has observed life carefully, and he has a clear good style. His work combines sentimentalism with social observation and a sense of character."

Concluding the meeting refreshments were served with the hostess assisted by her daughter, Miss Marjorie Crist and Mrs. A. J. Feigus. Others present were Mr. G. Morgan Smith, Mrs. Ralph Webster, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Paul Castelle, Mrs. W. Royce Hodges, Miss Mary Walsh, Mrs. A. J. Mirkin, Mrs. Milton Beneman, Miss Dorothy Harlowe, Mrs. Milton Granet, Mrs. George Griffith, Mrs. Max Bastian and Mrs. Granville Shirley.

The May 13 meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. VanOrmer, at which time the discussion will be on Willa Cather's "My Antonia."

Absinthe is the only alcoholic liquor whose excessive use produces a diseased condition with a name of its own—absinthism.

They were Randall Spoerlien, New Windsor, state president, and Mrs. John Young, Westminster, state president of the women's group. The former was guest speaker and the latter extended greetings. Vernon Loar, Frostburg, presided and Mrs. Edgar Matthews, Oldtown, introduced Mrs. Young. Left to right are Mr. Spoerlien, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Matthews and Mr. Loar.

The University of Miami, opened in 1926, had fewer that 2,000 students in 1945. Today some 13,000 students fill three campuses and more than 50 new buildings.

Early Settlers

HONOLULU (AP)—The first Polynesian settlers of Hawaii reached the islands by 750 A. D. or earlier, an anthropologist says.

Dr. Kenneth Emory, anthropologist with Honolulu's bishop Museum, says the date has been dedetermined through radio carbon tests of charcoal found on the island of Hawaii.

Before the latest findings no date had been set for the earliest migration from Tahiti. The findings confirm the estimate that all the Hawaiian Islands were settled by 1,000 A. D.

Bids Sought By SRC On Thruway Job

The Cumberland Thruway moves into another phase as the State Roads Commission plans to advertise for subsurface exploration of the west end of the project from Lynn Street on West Side to Winchester Road.

G. Bates Chaires, district 6, engineer for the SRC, said that bids will be received at the SRC office in Baltimore on May 6 and opened at noon.

The project calls for subsurface exploration of rock formations, including core drillings at 11 locations along the proposed west extension of the thruway.

Lynn Street is located in the area of Rose Hill Addition. The thruway's route takes it along the hill above the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant over Ridgedale Addition then across a bridge over Route 220 and then over Haystack Mountain to Winchester Road.

Chaires noted that Green Associates, Baltimore engineering firm, has progressed to a point where a location of the highway has been determined.

Subsurface exploration of the terrain is necessary for contractors' bidding purposes.

The east end of the thruway was covered in a similar project last year.

Negro Who Wanted Execution Gets Life

BALTIMORE (AP) — William McKinley Johnson, 31, was sentenced to life imprisonment Thursday in the murder of his wife. The Negro prisoner pleaded with the judge for the gas chamber instead.

Judge Anselm Sodaro told Johnson he would have imposed the death penalty except for a medical report that said that while Johnson was legally responsible, there were "doubts of the degree of responsibility" because of the excitement surrounding the crime.

Johnson told the court that he considered staying in prison the rest of his life "too severe punishment."

Evidence at his trial showed that Johnson shot his wife as she fled after telling him she was moving to a new address, then shot her in the face as she lay on the ground.

The effectiveness of a perfume depends on how well it suits you and how you wear it.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Get Acquainted With Your Perfume

With some perfumes, it's love at first scent. You like a certain fragrance so well that you must have it, and this is good reason to buy it because perfume should be a delight. But how constant a delight it is depends on how it's used. Study a new perfume carefully to see exactly how it is to live with — how much should be worn, how long it lasts and what kind of mood and costume it fits.

Evaluate only one perfume at a time. For several days now, wear the new perfume only and be as conscious of it as you can. You know that perfume should go only on the pulse spots, inside wrists and elbows and on the throat never on clothing where it goes stale. During this trial period, make a point of catching the scent often at the crook of your elbow.

The first thing learned by noting the scent as you wear it is whether or not you like it more and more — sometimes a first impression fades. And it may fade in more ways than one. The perfume you like may not be the one which lasts long enough on you. In any case, concentration on the same perfume for awhile will tell how long it lasts, so you know how soon to add a little more. And it indicates how much to use to waft just the right strength of perfume about you.

If the perfume measures up to your expectations, begin to think of what effect it has on your moods and for what occasions and clothes it is most appropriate. So many scents today are in between the light and the sophisticated, and your own judgment is best about when and where to wear them. By the wear-test you're making, you'll learn which seem as right at the end of daytime as in the morning, and which should be saved for after dark wear.

Man Sentenced In Motor Case

A 61-year-old local man was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail and fined $200 and costs on three motor vehicle violations yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man, Tolbert Leasure, of 308 Beall Street, after finding him guilty of three offenses including striking an unattended vehicle.

Leasure was apprehended by Officer Clarence Valentine after he struck a parked car at 508 Greene Street, owned by Mrs. Hazel Gates.

Officer Valentine testified that Leasure was traveling toward downtown Cumberland when the mishap occurred. The impact of the collision pushed the Gates car about a car length up on the sidewalk, causing approximately $450 damage to the vehicles.

Magistrate Baron fined Leasure $25 for reckless driving, $25 for striking the unattended vehicle and $150 and a 30-day jail sentence for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The judge pointed out that it was Leasure's second offense for operating under the influence.

Picnic Sites Along Highways Being Readied

The Maryland State Roads Commission is preparing its numerous roadside areas throughout the state in preparation for the coming tourist season.

The SRC, which builds and maintains them, estimates that more than a half-million persons annually make use of the roadside facilities. They are located in every county in the state.

The picnic areas vary in size, but each is equipped with tables, benches, trash cans and off-road parking spaces. There are also 17 sites where ponds and streams are available for fishing. Most of them also have fireplaces for the convenience of picnickers.

Limit To Price Nasser Will Pay For Better U.S. Relations

CAIRO (AP) — President Nasser seems to want better relations with the United States, but there is a definite limit to the price he is willing to pay.

Signs of a general improvement in relations are noted, but seasoned observers caution against hope for a dramatic solution.

Improvement will come gradually as a result of steady hard work by both sides, not with dramatic abruptness, one qualified source said, and excessive optimism in Washington could even damage relations a bit.

So far, most optimism has originated in Washington. The reaction here is largely confined to publishing Washington reports of improved relations, and a perceptible easing of anti-American propaganda.

U.S.-Egyptian relations soured in 1956 when Secretary of State Dulles pulled the rug from under Nasser's hopes of British and U.S. aid to finance his big Aswan Dam project.

Nasser reacted by nationalizing the Suez Canal, and France and Britain retaliated by invading Egypt. Though the United States rose in Nasser's graces when it took the lead in stopping the attack, it kept its freeze on 30 million dollars in Egyptian government assets and put the brake on nearly all forms of economic aid.

Dulles said the freeze would be lifted if Nasser came to terms on compensating the stockholders of the old Suez Canal Co.

The Egyptian press tends to lecture the United States, saying in effect: "If you continue to behave, maybe we can be friends."

Cartoons in the press still lampoon Dulles, but subtly point to ways he might change to win Egyptian friendship.

One cartoon showed Dulles struggling to climb a drainpipe to enter a house labeled "Egypt" through the second-story window. A figure representing Egypt tells him: "Why don't you try the front door?"

Nasser, however, has stepped up attacks on such Arab friends of the United States as Jordan's King Hussein and Lebanon's President Camille Chamoun. These attacks indirectly hit at the Eisenhower Doctrine for aiding the Middle East against Communist aggression.

Observers here concede that Nasser would like improved relations with the West for these reasons:

1. Nasser probably has gone as far with the Soviet Union as he can. If he goes much farther he risks becoming a satellite.

2. Before going to Moscow on an official visit next week, he would like relations with the West improved to strengthen his bargaining position.

3. Egypt needs an agreement with the West on Suez Canal compensation to pave the way for necessary loans to expand and improve the canal.

All this must be balanced, however, against Nasser's "Samsonian complex." He is capable of pulling down the house if he detects signs of any reservations by the West that touch on Egyptian dignity and sovereignty.

500-Pound Jewfish Undergoes Surgery

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Old Abe, a giant jewfish, received a massive dose of tranquillizer Wednesday, then underwent what was billed as the first underwater fish operation in history.

Hundreds of spectators looked on at the main tank of the Miami Seaquarium as Dr. Robert Knowles, veterinarian, put the knife to a suspected tumor on the fish's underside.

Old Abe, a 500-pounder capable of crushing a man or bending steel with a swipe of his tail, offered no trouble.

But several divers had to stand guard against attacks by sharks and other tank inhabitants which become excited by blood.

The operation was a success, Knowles reported, although a tumor wasn't found. It turned out to be a five-pound weight the 8- or 9-year-old fish had swallowed and which had become heavily encysted.

Battle Of Slogans: Ike vs. Vinson

With unaccustomed vigor and with solid good sense, Old Soldier Dwight D. Eisenhower has disposed of some partisan swipes at his plan for streamlining the nation's defense establishment. He even went so far as to call the criticisms "nonsense."

Very probably he is right.

Despite the reputation of Rep. Vinson, Georgia Democrat, as an authority on military matters, his outburst against the President's reorganization plan — an outburst which came only a few hours after the program had been presented to Congress—sounded as if the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee had read only the headlines before delivering himself of a violent attack on the whole idea. Reaching for the handiest slogan, Rep. Vinson declared that the reorganization would set up a "Prussian-type supreme high command."

Poppycock, the President said in effect yesterday. The Congress would retain its traditional, constitutional and necessary control over the military establishment, its organization and its expenditures. Only the purely military operations of the Department of Defense would be affected, and in time of war this is no place for interference from a bunch of civilian committees anyway.

Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, had his own slogan ready: "Safety and Solvency." It's not as stirring as Mr. Vinson's, which brings to mind monocled, high-collared German generals, the "blood and iron" of Bismarck, and cavalry and sabres. But it does seem to make more sense. Our safety may one day lie in our ability to move swiftly and surely in an emergency. Already our solvency depends more than a little upon how much waste and duplication our government can rid itself of.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Child Counts

In all the unfortunate discussion of the Lana Turner case, including the intervention of the character, Mickey Cohen, sight must not be lost that the central character is the child. Cheryl Crane, the little girl of too many fathers, from what appears in this picture, is a sad girl, who could have had everything but really had nothing and who became suddenly mature because she witnessed a procession of lovers and husbands and learned too much about life before she could possibly understand what she was learning.

This is not a private question. It is the social problem of the United States. Possibly when this child stabbed and killed Mickey Cohen's henchman, her mother's lover, she reminded the nation that our social institutions are based on monogamy and that polygamy and polyandry are intolerable in our civilization, no matter how generally practiced. They are intolerable because they disrupt the lives of children; they break up the home which means that children are made insecure. Among the poor, this system produces gangs; among the rich and in the middle class, they lead to hatred for parents, to confusion, even to subversion.

Therefore, it is necessary not to think of the gigolo whom Lana Turner tooted around the world and from whom she accepted caresses and abuse. Nor need we think of Lana Turner who has satisfied whim and fancy without regard to her moral and social responsibilities. What is important is the little girl, the representative of the next generation who stands before the court, a child who killed what looked like a great big man. John, she called him. He was her mother's boy friend. The child was the daughter of the second marriage, and there were two more to follow, and then there was this bodyguard of Mickey Cohen's, who introduces himself over the telephone and became, uninvited, the master of the household. And the mother becomes scared of him.

What a scene for bringing up a normal healthy child! So the little girl listens outside the door, while mother and the hood quarrel and he threatens to cut up her face. We do not need to know why. We only need to know that a child has been listening at the door to all the filth that must have been part of such a conversation. We now know from the ghoulish letters, what kind of people these were.

Then it is over. The child seized a knife to prevent the hoodlum from cutting up her mother's face. How many children in such miserable environments would like to do just that? How many of them will wonder when they grow older what has happened to their childhood? Did they have dolls or only hoods?

Society established the family as the fundamental of all social institutions. The family consists normally of one father, one mother and children. Sometimes a parent dies and there is, after a decent interval, another parent. Unless parents are decent, what can they expect of children?

Perhaps Walter Winchell epitomized the force of the era when he wrote, in relation to this case: "It must be a terrible thing to force a man and a woman to live together, who can't enjoy each other." This is a characteristic point of view and represents a period in American social relationships. But what about the children of such a marriage? Are they to be sacrificed to the parents' inability to enjoy each other? Are they to be destroyed? In countries where harems exist or where concubines flourish under one roof, children are reared in an atmosphere of intrigue and hatred and jealousy. I have known the intimacies of such homes and speak not by hearsay. Children can grow like weeds in such an atmosphere. Parents can destroy children without killing them. Parents can distort the minds of children by their misconduct and by vicious examples.

Just as Sputnik I shocked this country, even slightly, out of its complacency and forced us to review our ideas about education, so the case of Cheryl Crane, Lana Turner's daughter, must stir this nation to think seriously of marriage and children and home. In the upbuilding stage, nations are generally puritanical; when looseness of living is permissible, the down-going stage of history is evident.

Secretary Dulles Gets Involved In Competition Of Cockroaches

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—American diplomats rubbed their eyes last week when they read a cable flashed across the Atlantic: "Please inform which dish of cockroaches broken (signed) Dulles."

The cable, signed by the distinguished Secretary of State, pertained to the death of 36 cockroaches sent by the United States to participate in the Brussels World Fair.

The lowly bugs had been shipped to Brussels as part of the cold war between the east and west. To some extent they were to prove that the USA could raise bigger and better bugs than are raised behind the Iron Curtain—and how to raise them.

Three shipments of cockroaches were sent to Brussels—a common, kitchen variety untouched by science; a puny, pitiful variety injected with aureomycin; and a third batch of super-duper cockroaches fed with vitamins. The latter were bugs that the free world could really be proud of healthier, more virulent than any Communist bug that had to scrounge for a living in the slave world.

Furthermore, an interesting point was being made by these cockroaches. Though housewives regard cockroaches as parasites, it seems that cockroaches themselves have parasites. And in the cockroaches which had received aureomycin, the parasites had been killed, which interfered with their digestion and made them puny.

Unfortunately for the battle of the bugs between east and west, the displays of cockroaches were crushed en route to Belgium and the cockroaches killed. Hence the cable: "Please inform which dish of cockroaches broken—Dulles."

Secretary Dulles, of course, automatically signs every cable leaving the State Department, so it's doubtful whether he knew much about the competition of the cockroaches. At any rate, the problem was taken to the National Academy of Sciences, which, having no replacements on hand, sent rush orders to the University of Minnesota for three dozen more cockroaches.

Until they arrive, Americans at the Brussels Fair have to resort to colored pictures to show the achievements of the American cockroach in the battle between east and west.

Scaring The Taxpayers

Internal Revenue officials are getting chuckles out of this story about two clergymen and a revenue agent who died at the same time and approached the heavenly gates together. After looking them over, St. Peter first beckoned the tax collector into heaven, later admitted the two clerics.

The latter were puzzled and somewhat affronted. One of them complained: "With all due respect to your judgment, we have always thought that we led exemplary lives, exhorting our fellow men to do good and abide by the Bible. Why then does this layman, this revenue agent, take precedence?"

"What you say may be true," agreed St. Peter. "However, this man has scared hell out of more people than both of you together."

Sidelights

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas is running so scared for re-election that he's almost become a friend of the people . . . Careful Sen. Lyndon Johnson and family ride coach when they fly from Texas back to Washington . . . Roumanian Minister Silviu Brucan is practicing what the State Department preaches—people-to-people friendship. Roumania is now completely open to American tourists; the Roumanian Dance ensemble will tour the USA this fall; the Minister himself set out to get better acquainted with the USA by taking a trip to the west coast. At the University of California he visited the social science department; his wife, the engineering department. Madame Brucan, one of the most charming members of the diplomatic corps, is a graduate engineer, specializing in petroleum. Texas oilmen offered her a job if she ever leaves diplomacy . . . The State Department got a break when George Harrison, president of the Railway Clerks, was named chairman of the AFL-CIO committee on international affairs. Harrison, a long-time "good-will" ambassador for labor, has trade-union friends all over the world.

Merry-Go-Round

Col. Robert Guggenheim, ex-Ambassador to Portugal, of the Guggenheim copper fortune, boasted to friends the other evening that he had just helped christen his great-grandson. "It was your great-granddaughter," gently reminded his wife Polly. . . . Milton Hill, public relations man for National Airlines and an organizer for Ike's 1952 campaign train, who got himself all snarled up in testimony before the Harris Committee regarding wire pulling for Channel 10 in Miami, will probably not face a grand jury investigation for possible perjury. Attorney General Rogers called a grand jury on ex-FCCommissioner Mack, a Democrat . . . Hill boasts that he wrote speeches for Vice President Nixon . . . It's interesting that campaign literature for Adm. John G. Crommelin, segregationist candidate for Governor of Alabama, is being circulated as far away as California, an integrationist state. The literature reads: "Safeguard the white race and Alabama's security—elect a native Alabaman, lifelong Democrat, Rear Admiral John G. Crommelin." It also advocates "freeing the press from the Communist-Jewish news quarantine." Crommelin was kicked out of the Navy when he made weird charges against the Air Force in the B-36 controversy and his literature for Alabama governor is now being distributed in Negro voting areas in California.

Menshikov Used Food As A Weapon In Poland

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For several weeks now the American people have been told that the new Soviet Ambassador, Mikail Menshikov, is a nice fellow and that maybe, if he is a typical example, the Communists aren't such bad folks after all. So the new envoy has ben wined and dined, visiting delegations of Americans at the Embassy here have been charmed by his smile, and he has has been invited to sit down with some of the capitalistic elite in the Midwest.

But what is the true background of Mikhail Menshikov, and why, it might be asked, hasn't public attention been called to it before? For in the official proceedings of the Congress of the United States there is a record of his willingness to let human beings starve in order to further the Communist cause. This is in the report of a subcommittee of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs printed in 1946 after a study in Eastern Europe from August to October 1945. The report tells the sad story of what four members of Congress found out about Mr. Menshikov's cruelty to hungry men, women and children in Poland. Here is the full text of an extract from that report to Congress:

"The committee made some effort to investigate the operation of UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) in Poland but unfortunately was somewhat limited in its efforts due to the fact that UNRRA had not as yet had sufficient opportunity to become organized upon a permanent basis. However, under the temporary arrangements that had been concluded, the committee was deeply disappointed in both its operation and the distribution of its supplies.

"The temporary head of the UNRRA delegation was Mikhail Menshikov, a Soviet citizen, who wielded great control and influence over the distribution of UNRRA's yet meager supplies. The distribution was limited to recipients who were active supporters of or collaborationists with the provisional Polish government.

"Upon the committee's return to this country, it lodged a strong protest with the President of the United States and was happy to learn that soon thereafter Mr. Menshikov was recalled and his place taken by Brig. Gen. C. M. Drury of Canada. Since the committee's return to the United States, it has kept in close and direct contact with UNRRA operations in Poland and has noted great improvement both in the operation and in the distribution of relief supplies."

Three of the four members of the above-mentioned committee are still in Congress — Representative Thomas S. Gordon of Illinois, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Frances Bolton of Ohio, Republican, and Karl Mundt, Republican, now Senator from South Dakota.

Since Mr. Gordon is temporarily out of the country, this correspondent interviewed Representative Bolton and Senator Mundt. Mrs. Bolton said:

"Yes, I remember the experience and what we found. Unless a person was a Communist, he didn't get anything to eat. It was a very bad situation, and the people who needed our food most didn't get it. Mr. Menshikov was to blame for what happened and we said so plainly on our return to Washington."

Senator Mundt, confirming this, said:

"That is correct. As stated in the report, Menshikov was distributing these UNRRA supplies to the Communists and not to the other people — and claiming credit for the Soviets, rather than for this country. The Soviets were contributing very little, if anything, to this relief agency. By getting the leadership echelon partly into the hands of the Russians, they very skillfully maneuvered their people at the top in these countries which even then, I suppose, they had in mind taking over. This was a very handy tool to win friends and influence people — that's what they used it for."

When Ambassador Menshikov came to Washington, he was received with open arms by various persons here. He was given time on television and he was publicized widely as exuding the best of feelings toward the American people. Yet behind the mask of smiles is a cruel streak. Here is a man who abused his trusteeship as the custodian and distributor of food to starving people. He was the agent of an international relief organization, but his first allegiance was to Communism — he was willing to see human beings suffer unless they accept Communist domination, even while he used relief supplies to reward those who were politically on his side. It is a sorrowful chapter. It is not important alone as a revelation of what one Communist did, but it's an example of the tyranny and inhumanity which lie behind the whole Communist creed and the Communist government.

One wonders why the Department of State didn't look up the record before giving its approval to Mr. Menshikov as an ambassador to the United States. For every government has a right to decide whether an individual is "persona grata" — acceptable to it — and certainly the record shows Mr. Menshikov had committed a serious offense against the American as well as the Polish peoples. With such a record revealed, Mr. Menshikov's usefulness in America can be considered at an end. His own government ought to recall him and, meanwhile, American organizations should hesitate to invite to their rostrums and banquet tables anyone who has such a record of willful cruelty to human beings. If they do, such functions should be picketed by those who wish to register a protest against inhumanity.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our slight recession didn't affect the rest of the world too much. Just a little more protective excelsior in its relief packages.

Over in Africa the giraffes pulled in their necks. In Australia the pigmies didn't put so much return postage on their boomerangs.

But the twin Bedouins and the loose-lipped Ubangis still got their daily racing forms. And we furnished free spare parts for the head-shrinkers' do-it-yourself kits.

This is the land where we put picture windows in junkyard fences. We spend more on a rabbit hunt than the Gikwar of Baroda does on a honeymoon.

Even our second-best is first choice in Europe. Our only retrenchment was to cut the motor cars down to fit the garages.

New Approach To Rheumatic Fever Treatment

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A research group in Providence hospital, Detroit, is evaluating the effect on rheumatic fever of phenolic compounds which are related chemically to aspirin. The results are startling. Some of these products led to rapid recovery from rheumatic fever, with lowering of temperature, relief of symptoms, and protection of the heart. If these results are confirmed, the drugs represent a marked advance in the treatment of rheumatic fever.

Salicylic acid (aspirin) has been used successfully for 80 years in this disease and our researchers are trying to find out what ingredient in aspirin has this effect; it has some of the characteristics of the hormones, ACTH and cortisone. Dr. Norman E. and Dr. Charles N. Clarke and Robert E. Mosher, Ph.D., tried at least 10 phenolic compounds containing slight changes in the basic formula of aspirin. Some of these variations are new compounds.

One 6 year old boy was acutely ill with rheumatic fever. He was listless, mentally dull, had painful, swollen joints, a pulse of 140, and a loud murmur over the heart. He was started on 2, 3, 6-trihydroxy benzoic acid and the next day was cheerful and mentally alert; there were no signs of joint involvement, the heart was beating more slowly, and the murmur was diminished. On the sixth day the pulse was 80 and it then fell to 74. After 10 days of treatment, the heart sounded normal.

Similar results were noted in other patients with other phenolic compounds. There seemed to be a direct relationship between the severity of the disease and the behavior of the drugs. The Detroit physicians concluded that this type of medication is utilized by rheumatic fever patients as a natural substance which seems to bolster the affected tissues.

It has been known for some time that the powerful antirheumatic hormones, ACTH and cortisone, act much like aspirin, and many physicians believe the chemical components are related. The phenolic drugs had the same psychologic effects as the hormones—mild euphoria and a sense of well being—without the side reactions.

FOR EXTERNAL USE

P. S. E. writes: If a person drinks rubbing alcohol, will he develop convulsions and blindness or die?

REPLY

The internal use of methyl (wood) alcohol often leads to convulsions, blindness, and death. But most rubbing alcohols—like alcoholic beverages — contain ethyl alcohol. Cocktails of rubbing alcohol are not recommended, however, because other ingredients in the compound may have an adverse effect upon the system.

PULSATING AFTER EATING

R .L. writes: What causes the stomach to pulsate after eating?

REPLY

The aorta is the only pulsating structure in the abdomen. A full stomach may press on this large vessel in such a way that the pulsation is transmitted through the stomach. This may not occur when the gastric pouch is empty.

HEART VALVE SURGERY

Mr. F. writes: My husband needs his heart valve repaired. Is is a serious operation?

REPLY

Such operations are serious but, in the hands of a skilled cardiac surgeon, the mortality is less than 5 per cent.

TOMORROW: Our medical schools.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

What constitutes a "perfect woman"? Well, here's the Hindu recipe: "Take the lightness of the leaf and the glance of the fawn; the gaiety of the sun's rays and the tears of the mist; the inconstancy of the wind and the timidity of the hare; the vanity of the peacock and the softness of the down on the throat of a swallow. Add the harshness of a diamond, the sweet flavor of honey, the cruelty of the tiger, the warmth of fire, and the chill of snow, the chatter of the jay and the cooing of the turtledove. Melt and mingle these ingredients and woman is the result."

What makes a woman march resolutely into a store to buy something? Margaret Kennedy lists these eight reasons: (1) Because her husband says she can't have it. (2) It will make her look thinner. (3) It comes from Paris. (4) Her neighbors can't afford it. (5) Nobody has one. (6) Everybody has one. (7) It's different, and (8) (most likely) "Because."

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Two more books. That is all. After that, I will loaf. I loaf hard. When I am lazy. I refuse to get off my back to answer a phone or get a glass of water. The two books will be finished this year. One is called "Go With God," a book of favorite prayers from all over the world. The other is called "The Time Of The Traitors." It's about the atom spies.

That will make ten books in all. All that I have to say, all that I want to say, is in those ten volumes. If I don't quit now, I'll start to say the same things over again. I've never read a book of mine. When they are published, I examine them with shaking hand and constricted throat, but I will not read them. When you have lived with a subject two years or more, it becomes sickening.

I don't regret having written any of the books—even the failures. There was, I like to think, a sensible idea behind each one. "The Glass Crutch" was the first. It was a biography of an alcoholic named William Wynne Wister. He was 44 at the time, a lot more sober than a judge, and he had sufficient courage to want to tell the truth about his drinking.

The second was "Parish Priest" (practically all of these are out of print, so discount the notion that I am giving my work a free boost) and this was also a biography. The subject was Monsignor Leroy McWilliams of St. Michael's in Jersey City. Few people know this, but the monsignor did most of the work on the book and, in fact, wrote the entire first draft. I just polished his commas and took the money.

Next was "The Mark Hellinger Story. It didn't sell well. Columbia Pictures is about to shoot a feature film on Mr. Hellinger's life. If you ask me which of the books is my favorite, I'd say this one.

I had dinner with a fascinating psychiatrist one night: Dr. Richard H. Hoffmann. We talked about murder cases and found that we had both worked on a Long Island murder case, although we had not met. The case involved the poisoning of a wife by her lady friend. The husband of the murdered woman died in the electric chair and I felt that it was a miscarriage of justice. Dr. Hoffmann felt that the husband was guilty.

This hardly makes for good collaboration, but we wrote a book called "The Girl In Poison Cottage." It brought the old Creghton-Applegate murder back into the limelight for a moment, then it faded into darkness.

"The Making Of a Priest" was privately published in the archdiocese of Newark. It was a biography of Monsignor Michael J. Mulligan, who is pushing his way past 80. My interest was not so much in his priestly character as in his family life in Clinton, New Jersey. The Mulligans led an old-fashioned life of winter sleighbells and summer picnics and kinship among all members of the family and they were all buried in a big common plot. They don't make them like the Mulligans no more.

My first lucky book was "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." It was the first of "the day" books. Now there are many and it proves a point. I had felt that if you could find the single most dramatic day in a man's life, and tell it in book form by the hour, that it would be more intriguing than a straight biography. The Lincoln book required 24 years of off-and-on research and 35 days of writing.

I spent a year with Jackie Gleason, in and around the office, his friends, his enemies, his old neighbors, researching "The Golden Ham." The book was harsh and truthful. Mr. Gleason didn't like it. I did. The best that can be said for this biography is that it won the University of Illinois Benjamin Franklin Award for the best story about a person living or dead. It didn't sell enough copies to fill a 21-inch screen.

Joe Sage, an editorial writer, asked me to write "The Day Christ Died." This was written in the manner of the Lincoln book and again the formula of writing in detail about a single day proved to be popular. It was selected by six bookclubs and has been translated into many languages, including, of all things, Japanese.

My daughter Ginny and I have been working on "Go With God" for four years. Finding the favorite prayers of Mr. Eisenhower, David Ben-Gurion, Madame Chiang Kai-shek and hundreds of others has been a chore. It is nearly finished.

"The Time Of The Traitors" will not be published for a year. This one will tell the truth about the Rosenbergs, Dr. Klaus Fuchs and Allan Nunn May. So far, there are 3,200 pages of notes. I hope to make this book more accurate than the two Communist dissertations now in your public library. According to those books, the United States is guilty of stealing its own atom bombs.

By DOROTHY ROE

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — The Soviet pavilion at the Brussels World Fair may have Sputnik, but the American pavilion has girls.

And, although the Soviet Union spent more than 50 million dollars on her exhibit while the United States spent less than 15 millions, Uncle Sam wins the beauty laurels, hands down.

The great circular glass-and-gold American pavilion dominates the colorful grounds. It is in happy contrast with the somewhat grim facade of the Soviet building next door, an austere rectangular structure with an ironwork arrangement on top suggesting a concentration camp.

The pretty American hostesses in their trim gray suits and bronze-color berets are much in evidence at the U.S. pavilion, as are the glamorous models exhibiting typically American clothes in a continuous fashion show.

In the Soviet bailiwick you see 10-ton machines, stony-faced male guides — and, of course, Sputnik. The Soviets will have hostesses too, they say, but at a press preview Wednesday they were nowhere in sight. An interpreter explained that their uniforms had not arrived.

The Soviets also plan to show fashions, says their commissioner general, Dimitry A. Ryjkov, but there will be no live models.

Ryjkov, a large, handsome, deadpan type, surprised the assembled international press by issuing an invitation to come to the U.S.S.R. pavilion and ask him questions. The questions — from some 2,000 correspondents of all nations — came in French, Flemish, German and English and were translated.

One question concerned the model home which is part of the Soviet exhibit. This is an apartment furnished in early mail-order modern, with somewhat primitive looking electrical appliances in the pint-size kitchenette and rudimentary plumbing in the yellow-tiled bathroom. The commissioner admitted that in 12 to 15 years the average Russian might achieve this kind of housing.

Drowning was a common form of punishment in most European countries from ancient times until the early 1600s.

Cartoonists Want To Get In Cultural Exchange Act

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now the cartoonists want to get into the international act.

Dancers, comedians and pianists have broken through the cultural Iron Curtain between here and Moscow. And so, the 400 members of the National Cartoonists Society ask: Why not us?

The cartoonists have taken a few tentative steps toward an exchange of visits. Their president, John Pierotti of the New York Post, has asked the State Department, What about it?

Its answer, roughly translated from its elegant and somewhat meandering prose: Go right ahead buddy, only we don't have any money to help you.

The cartoonists also have the enthusiastic support of at least one congressman, Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., (D) of Trenton, N.J., who forwarded their request to the State Department.

"I think it's a really good idea," Thompson said. "Cartoonists wield tremendous influence. I'd like to see three or four of them go over there."

The society has all types of cartoonists, from those who draw the so-called comics to those who illustrate ads. But presumably it's the political cartoonist who would get the most out of any exchange if the money can be raised.

Most of us don't think about cartooning as a universal language. But Pierotti makes the point that this country's Uncle Sam, England's John Bull, Russia's bear and France's Marianne are recognized the world over.

And the cartoonists' versions of Secretary of State Dulles—leering or smiling benignly, depending on the political leanings of the drawer—show up almost as frequently abroad as in the United States.

In this country cartoonists not only have influenced events, but our memories.

Take the two Roosevelts.

It's hard to think of Teddy without seeing that overflow of teeth, or of FDR without seeing the long cigarette holder and flashing smile. And isn't this at least partly due to the emphasis cartoonists put on these facial characteristics?

Two of our most respected political symbols,—the Democratic donkey and Republican elephant, can be credited to one gifted cartoonist, Thomas Nast.

The elephant first appeared in 1874 as one beast in a passel of animals. It was labeled "Republican Vote" and it was to stay on as the GOP symbol.

The donkey was born four years earlier. Nast was a Republican reformer. After the death of Edwin M. Stanton, who had been Lincoln's secretary of war, Nast resented comments Democratic papers aimed at the GOP leader.

So he drew a cartoon showing a donkey kicking Stanton. The caption: "A live jackass kicking a dead lion. And such a lion! And such a jackass!"

So the donkey had an inauspicious start. But such is the power of cartoons, it's still alive—and still kicking.

Reuther Says Size Of U.S. Cars Silly

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Reuther said Wednesday the size and glitter of American automobiles are silly and the industry should get busy making moderate-priced small cars.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, said this is what President Eisenhower was talking about in a news conference remark that the American people are fed up with some of the products manufacturers are trying to shove down their throats.

"I think the auto industry should make a car which at least could be parked in a single block," Reuther joked.

Exile Plans Return

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Costa Rica's ex-President Jose Calderon Guardia, in exile nearly 10 years, plans to return to San Jose June 8. That would be a month after the inauguration of President-elect Mario Echandi, whose candidacy was strongly supported by Calderon Guardia's followers.

Mickey Cohen Fined $500 For Slugging Waiter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mickey Cohen was fined $500 Wednesday for slugging a waiter.

Municipal Judge Gerald C. Kepple remarked as he sentenced the ex-convict, ex-gambler: "...Regardless of provocation, real or imagined, Mickey Cohen can't afford to punch anyone in the nose any more than I, as a judge, can determine cases by cracking a few heads together—as much as I might have the urge or that justice might be served in that manner."

Cohen was convicted April 7 of battery. Waiter Arthur H. Black alleged Cohen slugged him during a restaurant party Jan. 29 for singer Sammy Davis Jr.

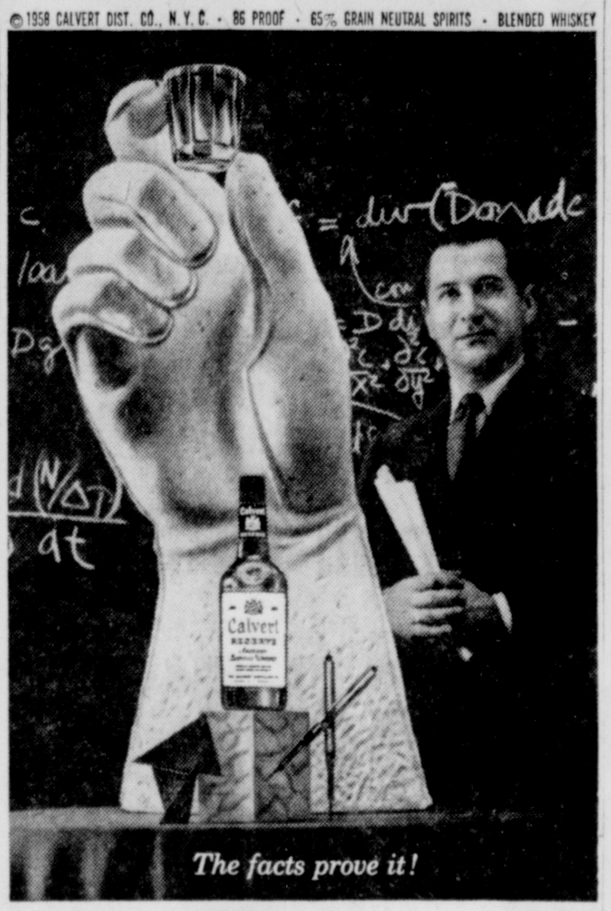

Judge Kepple denied a new-trial motion, levied the fine in lieu of a 50-day jail term and put Cohen on probation for two years. An attorney for Cohen gave notice of appeal. Judge Kepple freed the former gambler on his own recognizance pending the appeal.

Lunch Meat Has Smart, Tart Topping

Budget blues seem to haunt homemakers especially at income tax time. However, we still must think of nutrition, color, and flavor appeal in menus, whether our budget is stationary or expanding.

If there is a can of luncheon meat on your pantry shelf, try Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping.

It's an economy treat designed to look as if it's a gourmet's special request.

A 12-ounce can of luncheon meat is cut into 8 slices and broiled for 5 minutes. Then the top of each slice is spread with a tart, perky combination of lemon juice, salad dressing, pickle relish, chopped parsley and a beaten egg white. These ingredients are folded together thoroughly and spread over the individual slices. Pimiento strips add the color complement. These slices are then returned to the broiler until the topping is lightly browned, about 2 minutes and presto, the Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping is ready to serve.

Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2 tablespoons salad dressing
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 egg white, beaten
16 small strips of pimiento

Cut luncheon meat into 8 slices. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper, salad dressing, pickle relish and parsley. Fold into unbeaten egg whites. Set regulator for broiling. Place luncheon meat on broiler rack so the top surface of the meat is two inches from the heat. Broil 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Turn, spread egg white mixture on meat slices. Place 2 strips of pimiento on each slice. Broil until topping is lightly browned, about ½ minute. Yield: 4 servings.

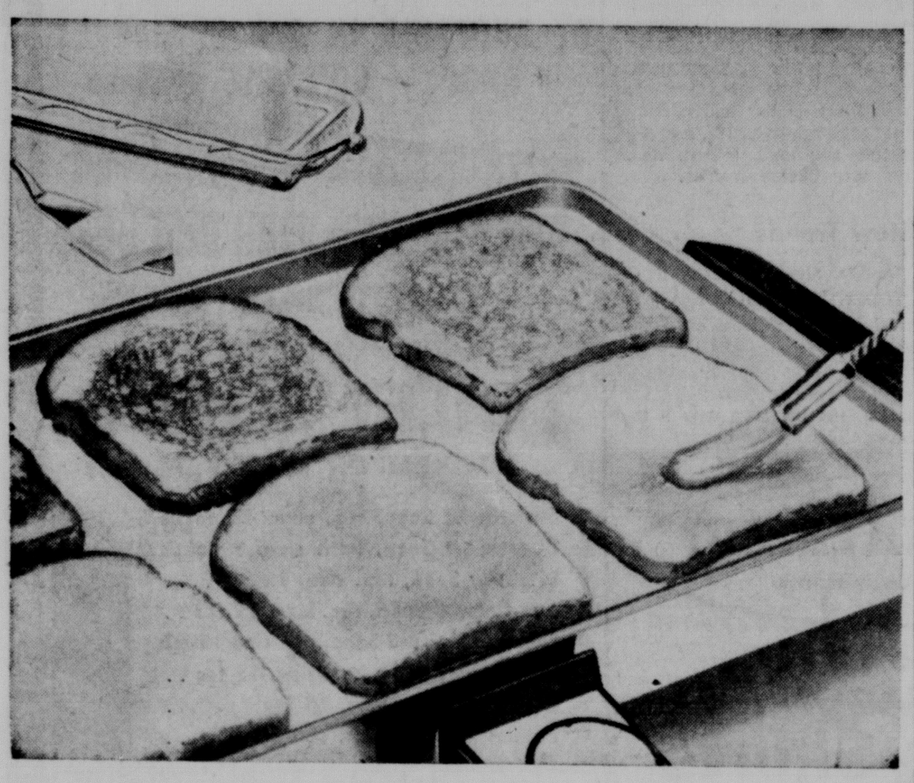

Fig Creme

1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon lemon extract
Dash, salt
4 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
3 cups fig bar cubes, ¼ inch

Combine whipped cream, lemon extract, salt, sugar and lemon rind in a bowl. Fold in cookie cubes. Refrigerate until firm. Serves 6.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — It seems to me that the President is on the right track in countering the Soviet proposal to stop testing nuclear weapons with the reminder that the logical move is to ban the manufacture of such weapons altogether. But I want to emphasize that such a ban must include provision for an adequate inspection system.

The Soviet can prove to the world that the present proposal to stop testing is not just another propaganda trick, by agreeing to the President's suggestion that now is the time for technicians to prepare plans for adequate inspection. It is true that no inspection system can be absolutely cheat-proof. But our scientists assure us that inspection of a suspension of tests or of a halt in the production of fissionable materials for weapons could be made tight enough to make the risks acceptable.

The banning of the manufacture of nuclear weapons and a plan for the gradual reduction of atomic weapon stockpiles would be a significant step toward real disarmament. A successful beginning along these lines would release manpower and money for the further application of the energy of the atom to peaceful uses.

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that teachers can now deduct from their taxable income, expenses incurred voluntarily for further education. Under the new Treasury ruling, teachers who go to summer school or take special courses to improve themselves, may now deduct from gross income the expenses of such schooling, even if not required as a condition for holding their jobs. Secretary William G. Carr of the National Education Association says the new Treasure regulation is "the most significant step ever taken by the United States Government to improve the economic status of teachers and their professional qualifications."

W.Va. To Invoke Tax Penalties On School Aid

Five Counties Named In Action

CHARLESTON (AP) — Penalties against the allocated school state aid for five West Virginia counties were announced Thursday by the State Board of School Finance.

The penalties were applied because the counties' non public utilities property assessments in 1957 did not come up to 40 per cent of appraised value as determined by the tax commissioner's 1956 survey.

The counties affected and their penalties:

The penalties total $192,141. They were arrived at by subtracting from the counties' allocations the same percentage as their property valuations were short of 40 per cent.

For the current year, counties assess 45 per cent on the appraised value of their non - utility property. The following year, the assessment rate will be 50 per cent, at which it will continue.

The state government's program to force counties to raise more for schools started in 1956, when the assessments had to come to 35 per cent of appraised value.

The amount of allocation for each county is decided by the board of school finance according to the "computed" expense of instruction, transportation, general improvement and other current expenses. "Computed" means the expenses are figured as what they would be if educational practices were uniform throughout the state, not as what they actually are.

The five counties penalized fell short of the required assessments by the following percentages. Berkeley, 3.47; Fayette, 3.59; Greenbrier, 4.59; Mason, 4.29; and Wood, .11.

The tentative penalties set last August were off from those announced Thursday by only $1,263.

School Additions Outlined For Kitzmiller, Oakland

ENDS TRAINING — John Frederick Reith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Reith, Ellerslie, has completed his "boot" training at Great Lakes Naval Training Center. After 14 days leave he reports to Little Creek, Va., Navy Base for four months indoctrination after which he will be assigned to Class A Radioman School for 16 weeks special training at Norfolk, Va. He is a graduate of Mt. Savage High School, Class of 1957.

Garrett Co. Board Favors Projects

OAKLAND — Additional school building construction in Garrett County within the next few years received favorable consideration at a recent meeting of the Board of Education.

One construction project is already definite, the new band room for Southern High School, which the board hopes to have completed for use by the time school opens in September. Other improvements are in the proposal stage.

The board approved architects' plans for the new band room and it was hoped the plans would be offered for bids in approximately three weeks. This project also calls for an enclosed corridor extending from the main building to the present shop buildings.

Other proposed building improvements for 1958-59 include:

A general education room with stage, lavatories, storage room and a floor area of 38 by 60 for Center Street School.

A library room for Kitzmiller School;

To Cost $100,000

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the estimated cost of the three projects would be in the neighborhood of $100,000. He told the board that over $400,000 remained in the school construction fund for use in the county which could be borrowed and paid back at a low rate of interest over a period of 15 years. He also reported that payment on present school bonds was being made at the rate of about $160,000 annually.

The board also considered the need for an additional room at Yoder School due to increased enrollment there.

He said the board considered favorably all of these projects as soon as suitable financing can be arranged.

The Swan Meadow building committee group is making satisfactory progress in its plan to build for that community a new two-room school building. Construction is being done by a group of people of the community.

Following adjournment, board members inspected the work being done on the annex building and made a trip to Crellin to inspect the condition of Crellin School.

Teachers Needed

Hawkins reported that two resignations due to retirement and one for other causes were the only ones received to date and said he felt the number of vacancies would not be large. He said no one would be employed in the school system in the future who did not hold a college degree, unless on a temporary or emergency basis. He said he felt all vacancies could be filled with teachers with full certification.

The board approved the low bid for a new car for the board, submitted by Sharps Motor company in the amount of $1,488.

Cecil Snyder was approved as a substitute bus driver for Harold White. Robert O. Weeks was approved as driver for a bus owned by Clyde Harvey.

Best Poetry Contest Is Announced

MT. SAVAGE — Mt. Savage students will again participate in the poetry contest sponsored annually by Frostburg George's Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women.

The contest began March 24 and will end April 21. Winners will be announced in local newspapers May 11.

All senior high school students of grades ten, eleven and twelve are eligible to compete. The poems to be submitted may be on any subject, be of any length, and may be any recognized form of poetry.

Each school may submit three or fewer entries, but only one entry per pupil will be accepted.

Poems will be judged on originality, content, and expression. Three prizes will be awarded: first, $5; second, $3; third, $2.

In 1955 Roberta Lashley's poem "Little Things" won first place in the contest. In 1956 Rosemarie Houck's "Fall Overture" was awarded top honors with Roberta's "The Penniless Millionaire" taking third place. In last year's contest Roberta's and Rosemarie's entries received second and third place awards respectively.

The teachers in the English department will serve as judges to determine the local entrants for the contest.

Student Pledged

ELLERSLIE — Ellis Wisler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wisler of Ellerslie, has pledged Sigma Chi social fraternity at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C.

Frostburg Lions Launch Clean Sweep Project

Members of the Frostburg Lions Club are shown as they prepared to cover the town and make "a clean sweep" selling brooms with proceeds going towards their project of improving a new park on Federal Hill in ground recently secured from the Borden Mining Company. Frostburg firemen and Arion Band will use the new park for their annual crabfeast held early in the fall. Kneeling in the front left is Dr. Daniel Shupe, general chairman, of the drive. Charles Schutz, captain of one of the teams kneels at the right. Standing at the rear are a number of captains and members of teams. They are (left to right) E. B. Van Fossen, Edward Flanigan, president of the club, William Lemmert and Jesse Jacobs. A house-to-house canvass was made and Dr. Shupe said if anyone was missed and wants to purchase a broom to aid the project they could contact any member of the club and a broom will be delivered. The initial effort was termed "quite successful."

Lambert, who is a carpenter, has been a resident of the town for 55 years.

Westernport Council Studies Sewage Fee Plans

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council Wednesday discussed an ordinance to be enacted for setting up sewage regulations and fees. It was suggested that $1 be charged as a sewage fee where the water bill is $3 or less. Above $3 the fee would be one-third of the water bill.

When the Mayor and Commissioners decide where the sewage disposal plant will be erected, sewer locations will be changed. Town officials feel that the cost of a sewer tap of $10 is too low and think that it should be increased.

These same rates would apply to citizens outside the corporation using the town's sewer line who would pay an additional 20 per cent. The town also reserves the right of inspection.

It would be illegal to put into the sewers any ashes, oil, paint, gasoline or anything having a tendency to stop up the sewers. It was ordered that the proposed ordinance be turned over to Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney, for preparation and advice.

Council ordered that the League of Municipalities be asked for a copy of a proposed sewer ordinance; also to ask the City of Cumberland for a copy of its ordinance.

The lease of the Bureau of Mines for renting the second floor of the town building was renewed for another year at $100 per month.

Summer uniforms will be purchased for members of the Police Deparament. Action was taken following the recommendation of Leo Herbert, police commissioner.

Six hundred and 91 garbage cards have been sold to date, according to the report of Mrs. Katherine Dailey, town clerk. That is about 200 less than sold last year.

Assembly Planned

MT. SAVAGE — Dances and stunts will be featured in the assembly program which will be presented in the Mt. Savage auditorium by the girls gym classes on April 23.

Lonaconing Rotary To Aid Red Cross Blood Program

Young Women's Club Also Volunteers

LONACONING—The Lonaconing Rotary Club has volunteered to recruit blood donors and advertise the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit here on Tuesday May 6. Miss Nellie Sloan, Red Cross branch chairman said that the Young Women's Club of Lonaconing has volunteered to do the clerical work and other details on the day of the visit.

The bloodmobile will be at the VFW home here from noon until 6 p. m. on May 6, and Lonaconing Red Cross quota is 100 pints of blood. It is emphasized, Miss Sloan pointed out, that the community benefits from the program because any persons living here, whether they are donors or not, are entitled to free blood if they need it, anywhere in the country. It is necessary therefore, she pointed out that the regular quota of 100 pints be obtained. At the last visit, only 38 pints of blood were donated by local area residents.

Miss Sloan, members of the Rotary Club and local officials urge citizens to take part in this important life-giving program.

Edward McPartland, local postmaster and member of Rotary is chairman of the recruitment campaign, and he too urges as many as possible to donate a pint of blood each on May 6.

Local Man Fined On Liquor Charge

George Buskirk, of 233 Glenn Street, was fined $100 and court costs yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court for possessing untaxed liquor.

Buskirk was apprehended several months ago following a motor vehicle violation on North Centre Street.

Permit Is Sought For Home Construction

J. Forrest Milleson has applied to the City Engineer's office for a permit to construct a dwelling on lots 180 and 181 of Welch's Addition on Frederick Street.

The proposed home will be of brick and measure 28 by 34 feet. Cost of construction was estimated at $5,000, with the residence to have two 10-foot side yards and be set back 20 feet.

Mt. Savage Bus Company Extends Operations To Ellerslie Area

The Mt. Savage Bus Lines Company has received permission from the Maryland Public Service Commission to conduct a spur operation from the intersection of State Route 35 and 36 to Ellerslie via Route 35.

The spur operation, according to John Cassen, secretary of the Mt. Savage firm, will thus assume the Maryland portion of the Albright Bus Line business which will cease its operations on April 30.

The Mt. Savage company has been performing bus service from that community to Cumberland and the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation for a number of years, Cassen said, adding that the firm has worked in close conjunction with the one operated by C. O. Albright from Hyndman to Cumberland and the Amcelle plant.

The spur operation will extend the line's operations from Ellerslie to Cumberland and the Celanese plant, and thus offer the residents of that area transportation to their places of employment, Cassen explained.

The new operation will operate as closely as possible to the schedule now in effect, it was explained, Cassen adding that a time and rate schedule will be posted and available on Monday.

The firm's secretary said there will be a slight change in the present fare to Ellerslie so that the tariff will conform with the fare to Mt. Savage. The new schedule will also result in a transfer for Celanese employes on the early morning runs to the Amcelle plant, Cassen explaining that workers from Ellerslie will transfer at Corriganville to another of the firm's buses in order that the run can be made direct to the plant.

No change is contemplated in the present fare to Mt. Savage, Cassen said.

Slate Of Candidates Backed By Brotherhood

The legislative committee of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in this area has endorsed a number of candidates who are seeking nomination to the State Senate and House of Delegates from Allegany County.

Edwin C. Hoffman, city, who is chairman of the brotherhood legislative committee for Maryland, said the organization has endorsed the incumbent state senator Charles M. See and incumbent delegates from the county, with the exception of David Williams, of Midland.

In addition to these endorsements, the brotherhood has decided to recommend Estel C. Kelley, a former delegate who is seeking the Republican nomination to the House, and C. William H. Baer, who also is a former delegate. Baer is a Republican candidate and is a member of the brotherhood, Hoffman said.

The brotherhood has also endorsed the candidacy of William Walsh, city, who is seeking nomination on the Democratic ticket for the House of Delegates.

Hoffman said the brotherhood feels that Walsh is "capable and if elected would not only do a good job as far as the brotherhood is concerned but also for the general public." The brotherhood official said that Walsh is the grandson of the late James Nee, who was general chairman of the brotherhood at the time he was employed in Cumberland by the B&O Railroad Company. This background was cited by Hoffman as an additional reason for the support of the organization for Walsh.

In connection with the endorsement of State Senator Charles M. See, the brotherhood official said the organization had "nothing against George R. Hughes Jr., who is opposing See in the primary on the Republican ticket, but it is the custom to endorse the incumbent when there is no reason for being opposed to their candidacy as far as their record is concerned."

The brotherhood has a policy of not entering into the candidacies of persons seeking county office, Hoffman said.

On a statewide basis, the brotherhood has endorsed the Democratic harmony ticket of J. Millard Tawes for governor, Thomas D'Alesandro for U. S. Senate, Ferdinand Sybert for attorney general and Louis Goldstein for comptroller.

Early Settlers

HONOLULU (AP)—The first Polynesian settlers of Hawaii reached the islands by 750 A. D. or earlier, an anthropologist says.

Dr. Kenneth Emory, anthropologist with Honolulu's bishop Museum, says the date has been dedetermined through radio carbon tests of charcoal found on the island of Hawaii.

Before the latest findings no date had been set for the earliest migration from Tahiti. The findings confirm the estimate that all the Hawaiian Islands were settled by 1,000 A. D.

Potomac State Beats Shepherd In WVIAC Contest, 8-3

Bink Barlow Posts Second Win Of Year

Hurls Five-Hitter, Belts 2-Run Triple, 13 Rams Stranded

By TED TROXELL

Potomac State College opened its West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference schedule today with an 8-3 decision over the Shepherd College Rams behind the five-hit twirling of "Bink" Barlow, who posted his second straight triumph of the season at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The Cheltenham, Pa., southpaw struck out ten and issued 12 bases on balls but only one of the passes figured in Shepherd's scoring. A wild pitch produced that tally in the final frame.

In addition to twirling airtight ball in the pinches, Barlow provided a two-run triple in the sixth inning, driving home Hudock and Wickline, and scoring later on "Skip" Delligatti's single.

Shepherd left a total of 13 runners stranded on the hassocks. Three runners perished on the bases in the third when Barlow struck out Smallwood after he had loaded the bags with free passes. In the 7th, Barlow again loaded the bases on walks but got out of the jam when Smallwood grounded out and Leonard whiffed.

Delligatti pilfered four bases, including a steal of home in the first frame. It marked the second time this season that "Skip" had swiped home. Dick Wickline duplicated the feat in the fourth inning.

Isherwood, Shepherd's starting and losing pitcher, yielded eight hits in six innings, and struck out 10. "Rusty" Gates, former Potomac State hurler, finished on the mound for the Rams.

Delligatti accounted for two of Potomac State's eight hits.

The victory was the second of the season for Coach John Fox's aggregation against three losses and one tie contest. The Catamounts will play Hagerstown Junior College Saturday in the Hub City. Box:

Gerry Staley Stars In Relief For Wynn

CHICAGO (AP)—Ex-Cleveland star Al Smith's first Chicago run production was a two-tally single which started the White Sox to a 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Although Early Wynn, another ex-Tribeman, was credited with the first White Sox triumph in three starts, he needed fine relief help from Gerry Staley.

Staley supplanted Wynn in the seventh with Tiger runners on third and second and nailed Ray Boone on a foul pop for the third out.

Staley protected the Sox 4-3 lead through the eighth when the Tigers advanced men as far as third and second and in the ninth when Harv Kuenn's one-out double was wasted.

The loser was Frank Lary, first of three Tiger hurlers.

With the score tied 3-3 and two out in the Chicago sixth, consecutive singles by Tito Francona, Smith and Bubba Phillips moved the Sox ahead 4-3.

Triandos, Robinson Hit Round Trippers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles shut out Washington 4-0 Thursday night on the three-hit pitching of young Milt Pappas and veteran Jack Harshman.

Gus Triandos led the Orioles' attack with his second homer and a double, and Brooks Robinson added a home run and a single.

Harshman was brilliant in relief, allowing only Norm Zauchin's sixth inning single after taking over in the fourth with one out and runners on first and second.

The left-hander walked Lou Berberet to load the bases, then got Whitey Herzog and Rocky Bridges called third strikes.

Pappas allowed a first inning single to Herb Plews and another to Berberet in the second but went wild in the fourth. After walking Roy Sievers and advancing him to second on a pitch, the 18-year-old hurler forced Jim Lemon to fly out. But a walk to Zauchin put two runners on and brought Harshman to the mound.

MORGANTOWN (AP) — West Virginia University's baseball team improved its record to 4-5 Thursday by whipping Fairmont's defending State Collegiate Conference champions, 10-3.

Jim Warren, Mountaineer first baseman, had a homer and second baseman Charley Tupes smacked a triple for the big WVU blows. Third baseman Bob Senay and outfielder Frank Paczewski each had tow hits.

George Opron and Larry Ott each had two of Fairmont's five hits, with Ott smacking a triple. The loss evened the Fairmont record at 1-1.

ELK GARDEN, W. Va., April 17 — Elk Garden High School moved into a second place tie with Paw Paw in the Potomac Valley Conference by defeating the West Virginia School for the Deaf here today by the score of 14-8.

The win was the second in a row for Coach Paul Kalbaugh's team while the Lions from Romney went down to defeat for the fourth straight time.

Jerold Milavec, the first of four Elk Garden pitchers, got credit for the win while the loss was charged to Bobby Moon, who gave way to Perry after the Elks scored five runs in the first inning.

Danny Milavec paced the Elk Garden hitters with three singles while Charles Paugh blasted a triple and double. Moon, Larry Jones and Bill Trader collected two hits each for the visitors.

Elk Garden meets Romney High in a P.V.C. engagement Friday at Romney. Box:

Rigney In Hospital, Franks Leads Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney, who left his San Francisco Giant's dugout in the fourth inning of Thursday's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers, was taken to an Oakland Hospital.

Chub Feeney, a Giant vice president, insisted the 40-year-old Rigney is all right and would join the team in Los Angeles Saturday or Sunday.

The teams open a three game series in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Friday.

Rigney has a history of ulcers but Feeney said his present trouble is "nothing serious—we don't want to make a big deal of it."

Weaver, Collins Lead Derby Open

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sparkling 65's by Bert Weaver and Bill Collins set the pace Thursday as par took a plastering in the first round of the Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament.

Seneca Golf Course's 6,526 yards of tree-lined hills—usually considered a rugged test—didn't worry 33 pros who toured the first 18 holes with scores under par of 35-37—72.

The course record was equalled by the efforts of Weaver, a former Louisiana State University star from Beaumont, Tex. and Collins, a Baltimore native playing out of Grossinger, N. Y.

Even so, they had a scant stroke lead over Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., who put together a string of birdies on the second nine to finish with 66.

Golfer Gets Four For Hole-In-One

FLORENCE, Ala. (AP) — George Jones made a hole in one at the Florence Country Club Golf course and still carded a four on the hole.

Hitting into the wind, Jones slammed a No. 4 wood at the green on the third hole. The ball rolled into the cup, 185 yards away. But a temporary green, 20 yards nearer the tee, was in use.

So Jones had to pitch back and take two putts.

Montreal Canadiens Defeat Boston, 3-2

MONTREAL, April 17—(INS)—The incomparable Maurice (The Rocket) Richard knocked in the winning goal in overtime tonight to give the Montreal Canadiens a 3-to-2 victory over the Boston Bruins in the Stanley Cup championship round.

The goal at 5:45 of the sudden-death period also presented Montreal with a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series for hockey's top prize.

The next game will be played at Boston Saturday and a seventh, if necessary, back in Montreal Sunday.

Johnny Kucks Tames Boston, Yanks Win, 3-1

Mantle's Home Run Is Winning Margin

BOSTON (AP)—Johnny Kucks, supported by a Mickey Mantle homer and a Yogi Berra double, hurled New York to a seven-hit, 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday at Fenway Park.

Jackie Jensen got to Kucks in the ninth for his third home run in four games but the Yankee right-hander settled down after a Frank Malzone single to wrap up the decision.

Ted Williams, who had been sidelined with food poisoning, made his first appearance of the season as a pinchhitter for Boston in the eighth inning and grounded out.

Vernon Is Hero In Tribe's Win

His Pinch Double Defeats A's, 3-2

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mickey Vernon slammed a pinch double to right center with two out in the ninth inning Thursday, driving in two runs to give Cleveland a 3-2 victory over Kansas City's Athletics.

Vernon batted for Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the 22-year-old right-hander who went the route with an eight-hitter in his major league debut. It was the Indians' first victory of the season after a pair of opening losses to the A's.

Until Vernon's clutch hit it looked as if the big bat of Kansas City's Bob Cerv was going to be the deciding factor in a good pitching duel between Grant and Duke Maas.

Cerv, who drove in both Kansas City runs with a single and a sixth inning home run, now has two homers, three doubles and two singles for nine RBI's in the first three games of the season.

Roger Maris opened the Cleveland ninth with a single but was forced at second by Russ Nixon. Larry Doby then struck out pinch-hitting for Bobby Avila. Preston Ward followed with a single to center and Vernon drove home both runners.

Braves Beat Pirates, 6-1, Mathews Clouts 2 Homers

Ed Wallops Third, Fourth Of Season; Burdette Is Victor

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ed Mathews hit his third and fourth home runs of the season into the far but friendly reaches of County Stadium Thursday as the Milwaukee Braves whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1.

World Series hero Lew Burdette took up on the mound practically where he left off last fall, although after five innings the Pirates were able to do what the Yankees couldn't do in their last 24 innings against him—score a run.

Last season Mathews didn't hit No. 4 until May 10, in the 20th game, on his way to a season total of 32.

The Pirates, who haven't defeated Burdette since June 20, 1954, pulled even at 1-1 in the fifth when Roberto Clemente tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Gene Baker.

The Braves' fifth inning outburst came after starter and loser Vern Law had the first two batters out. Red Schoendienst singled, Bob Hazle walked and Mathews lifted his third homer into the right field bleachers.

Bids Sought By SRC On Thruway Job

The Cumberland Thruway moves into another phase as the State Roads Commission plans to advertise for subsurface exploration of the west end of the project from Lynn Street on West Side to Winchester Road.

G. Bates Chaires, district 6, engineer for the SRC, said that bids will be received at the SRC office in Baltimore on May 6 and opened at noon.

The project calls for subsurface exploration of rock formations, including core drillings at 11 locations along the proposed west extension of the thruway.

Lynn Street is located in the area of Rose Hill Addition. The thruway's route takes it along the hill above the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant over Ridgedale Addition then across a bridge over Route 220 and then over Haystack Mountain to Winchester Road.

Chaires noted that Green Associates, Baltimore engineering firm, has progressed to a point where a location of the highway has been determined.

Subsurface exploration of the terrain is necessary for contractors' bidding purposes.

Negro Who Wanted Execution Gets Life

BALTIMORE (AP) — William McKinley Johnson, 31, was sentenced to life imprisonment Thursday in the murder of his wife. The Negro prisoner pleaded with the judge for the gas chamber instead.

Judge Anselm Sodaro told Johnson he would have imposed the death penalty except for a medical report that said that while Johnson was legally responsible, there were "doubts of the degree of responsibility" because of the excitement surrounding the crime.

Johnson told the court that he considered staying in prison the rest of his life "too severe punishment."

Evidence at his trial showed that Johnson shot his wife as she fled after telling him she was moving to a new address, then shot her in the face as she lay on the ground.

The effectiveness of a perfume depends on how well it suits you and how you wear it.

Secrets Of Charm

Get Acquainted With Your Perfume

With some perfumes, it's love at first scent. You like a certain fragrance so well that you must have it, and this is good reason to buy it because perfume should be a delight. But how constant a delight it is depends on how it's used. Study a new perfume carefully to see exactly how it is to live with — how much should be worn, how long it lasts and what kind of mood and costume it fits.

Evaluate only one perfume at a time. For several days now, wear the new perfume only and be as conscious of it as you can. You know that perfume should go only on the pulse spots, inside wrists and elbows and on the throat never on clothing where it goes stale. During this trial period, make a point of catching the scent often at the crook of your elbow.

The first thing learned by noting the scent as you wear it is whether or not you like it more and more — sometimes a first impression fades. And it may fade in more ways than one. The perfume you like may not be the one which lasts long enough on you. In any case, concentration on the same perfume for awhile will tell how long it lasts, so you know how soon to add a little more. And it indicates how much to use to waft just the right strength of perfume about you.

If the perfume measures up to your expectations, begin to think of what effect it has on your moods and for what occasions and clothes it is most appropriate. So many scents today are in between the light and the sophisticated, and your own judgment is best about when and where to wear them. By the wear-test you're making, you'll learn which seem as right at the end of daytime as in the morning, and which should be saved for after dark wear.

Man Sentenced In Motor Case

A 61-year-old local man was sentenced to 30 days in the Allegany County Jail and fined $200 and costs on three motor vehicle violations yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate Morris Baron sentenced the man, Tolbert Leasure, of 308 Beall Street, after finding him guilty of three offenses including striking an unattended vehicle.

Leasure was apprehended by Officer Clarence Valentine after he struck a parked car at 508 Greene Street, owned by Mrs. Hazel Gates.

Officer Valentine testified that Leasure was traveling toward downtown Cumberland when the mishap occurred. The impact of the collision pushed the Gates car about a car length up on the sidewalk, causing approximately $450 damage to the vehicles.

Magistrate Baron fined Leasure $25 for reckless driving, $25 for striking the unattended vehicle and $150 and a 30-day jail sentence for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. The judge pointed out that it was Leasure's second offense for operating under the influence.

A Garrett County Circuit Court jury Wednesday returned a $7,400 verdict in favor of Oldtown Road brothers injured in a Route 50 wreck in Virginia.

Plaintiffs in the damage suit were Robert Klink, operator of Bob's Esso, Oldtown Road, and his brother, Harold Klink, an employe.

The defendant was Sgt. Charles W. Speicher of Deer Park who was stationed at Bolling Field at the time of the accident March 25, 1957.

The accident occurred on Route 50 between Fairfax and Winchester. The brothers were hospitalized.

Permit Is Granted For Home Construction

Homer and Catherine Deneen, 5 Race Street, have been granted a permit by the city engineer's office for the construction of a one-story residence on Gleason Street.

The home will have a concrete block foundation and sides of cedar shingles. It will measure 38 by 36 feet and the estimated cost of construction is $7,500.

Picnic Sites Along Highways Being Readied

The Maryland State Roads Commission is preparing its numerous roadside areas throughout the state in preparation for the coming tourist season.

The SRC, which builds and maintains them, estimates that more than a half-million persons annually make use of the roadside facilities. They are located in every county in the state.

The picnic areas vary in size, but each is equipped with tables, benches, trash cans and off-road parking spaces. There are also 17 sites where ponds and streams are available for fishing. Most of them also have fireplaces for the convenience of picnickers.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	4 diamonds
Pass	4 spades	Pass	6 no trump
Pass	7 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Eight of clubs.

Counting was essential in both the bidding and play of today's hand to produce a vulnerable grand slam for North and South.

After his partner's three no trump opening, North, holding 10 points in high cards, could have bid six no trump at once (since 10 plus 25 equals 35), but if South has a maximum, a grand slam would surely be within reach (10 plus 27 equals 37).

North temporized by bidding four diamonds and after South's four spade bid jumped to six no trump. Observe that the four diamond call followed by a leap to six no trump is stronger than a direct leap to six no trump, and invites partner to contract for the grand slam if he has a maximum. South decided to accept, holding 27 gilt edged points and two four card suits.

West led the eight of clubs, which declarer took with the king. He observed that there was 12 immediately cashable tricks, with the 13th in hearts if the suit broke normally.

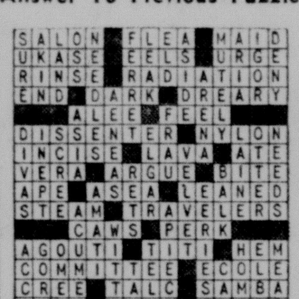

At any rate, South set about to gather complete data on the hand. At the outset, from West's lead of the eight East was marked with at least queen, jack, ten of clubs. After four rounds of spades it was revealed that East held originally five of that suit. Declarer then cashed the three diamond tricks, on the third of which West let go a club, having previously discarded two diamonds while the spades were being run.

From all this evidence declarer concluded that West had left four hearts and a club or possibly five hearts. But if it was the latter, all hope had flown.

Assuming West to have four hearts, hope for the contract rested with finding East with the singleton jack, ten or nine. Accordingly, South led a heart to the ace and the nine fell from East. Declarer then led a low heart and when West played the seven, the eight was inserted by dummy to hold the trick.

Observe that it would have done West no good to split his honors, for declarer can return to the ace of clubs to finesse against the jack-seven of hearts.

USO Expresses Thanks For Area Aid

Leaders of the County United Fund are being asked to extend thanks to all contributors for support in the work of the United Service Organizations.

Col. Randolph Millholland, local USO chairman, expressed thanks for the $2,000 CUF allocation in the name of the youngsters from this area who are now serving their country.

In a USO Month report to Winfield H. Adam, CUF executive director, Col. Millholland listed the purposes, policies and functions of the USO, a County United Fund agency.

"The purpose of the USO," the report stated, "is to serve more than 900 area men and women who are now in the Armed Forces. Nationally, 2,500,000 are served.

"USO is a voluntary, civilian federation of six national agencies and is responsible to the President of the United States and the Secretary of Defense.

"Member agencies are the Young Men's Christian Associations, National Catholic Community Service, National Jewish Welfare Board, Young Women's Christian Association, Salvation Army and National Travelers Aid Association.

"USO is not a part of the federal government but receives its support through 1,465 United Funds and other voluntary campaigns. Established on February 4, 1941, it now has 267 local units in service in this country and overseas.

"Twenty-two of the USO clubs and lounges are outside the continental USA. All USO programs are designed to meet the specific human needs of members of the Armed Forces in off-duty hours, and wherever they may be serving those needs remain basically the same—friendship, entertainment, recreation, acceptance by the community, help with personal problems, and contact with the centers of their religious faiths.

Pin-Up Girls Don't Help

Pin-up girls are no help to the service man seeking relief from monotony, homesickness and loneliness, says National Guardsman Clem Armstrong, who posed for this USO Month picture at the State Armory. The need for the steadying influence of supervised recreation and wholesome companionship offered through the USO was cited by Col. Randolph Millholland, who thanked the public for supporting the agency through County United Fund.

Health Program Is Discussed

Plans for coordinating the work of the Allegany County Lay Health Council and the Health Department were discussed at a meeting here yesterday.

Attending the conference held in the Health Department offices were the executive officers of the council, Mrs. Lester McGill, president, Mrs. Marion May and Mrs. Ruth Taylor.

Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer; Mrs. Jennie Grahame, administrative assistant, and Mrs. Vauda McGann, public health nurse, represented the department.

The discussion, Dr. van Strien said, included the need for cooperation between the department and the volunteer health workers.

The council was asked to assist in advising the public of the needs of the department and to help correlate its plans with public demand.

Korea Vets May Have Money Due

Local Korean War veterans who have exhausted their state unemployment insurance payments were reminded yesterday that they may be eligible for federal benefits of $26 a week under the Veterans Readjustment Act of 1952.

According to the Maryland Department of Employment Security, which issued the reminder, a veteran may qualify for these benefits if he had at least 90 days service between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955.

He also must have a discharge other than dishonorable, collected less than $676 in past payments under this program and has exhausted his state unemployment insurance rights.

To be eligible for $26-a-week payments, the veteran must continue to meet the eligibility rules of the state law.

Benefits are payable until July 26, 1958, or within three years of the veteran's discharge, whichever is later, not to go beyond January 31, 1960.

Persons applying for these benefits should report to the local office of the Department of Employment Security.

Battle Of Slogans: Ike vs. Vinson

With unaccustomed vigor and with solid good sense, Old Soldier Dwight D. Eisenhower has disposed of some partisan swipes at his plan for streamlining the nation's defense establishment. He even went so far as to call the criticisms "nonsense."

Very probably he is right.

Despite the reputation of Rep. Vinson, Georgia Democrat, as an authority on military matters, his outburst against the President's reorganization plan — an outburst which came only a few hours after the program had been presented to Congress—sounded as if the chairman of the House Armed Services Committee had read only the headlines before delivering himself of a violent attack on the whole idea. Reaching for the handiest slogan, Rep. Vinson declared that the reorganization would set up a "Prussian-type supreme high command."

Poppycock, the President said in effect yesterday. The Congress would retain its traditional, constitutional and necessary control over the military establishment, its organization and its expenditures. Only the purely military operations of the Department of Defense would be affected, and in time of war this is no place for interference from a bunch of civilian committees anyway.

Mr. Eisenhower, on the other hand, had his own slogan ready: "Safety and Solvency." It's not as stirring as Mr. Vinson's, which brings to mind monocled, high-collared German generals, the "blood and iron" of Bismarck, and cavalry and sabres. But it does seem to make more sense. Our safety may one day lie in our ability to move swiftly and surely in an emergency. Already our solvency depends more than a little upon how much waste and duplication our government can rid itself of.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Child Counts

In all the unfortunate discussion of the Lana Turner case, including the intervention of the character, Mickey Cohen, sight must not be lost that the central character is the child. Cheryl Crane, the little girl of too many fathers, from what appears in this picture, is a sad girl, who could have had everything but really had nothing and who became suddenly mature because she witnessed a procession of lovers and husbands and learned too much about life before she could possibly understand what she was learning.

This is not a private question. It is the social problem of the United States. Possibly when this child stabbed and killed Mickey Cohen's henchman, her mother's lover, she reminded the nation that our social institutions are based on monogamy and that polygamy and polyandry are intolerable in our civilization, no matter how generally practiced. They are intolerable because they disrupt the lives of children; they break up the home which means that children are made insecure. Among the poor, this system produces gangs; among the rich and in the middle class, they lead to hatred for parents, to confusion, even to subversion.

Therefore, it is necessary not to think of the gigolo whom Lana Turner tooted around the world and from whom she accepted caresses and abuse. Nor need we think of Lana Turner who has satisfied whim and fancy without regard to her moral and social responsibilities. What is important is the little girl, the representative of the next generation who stands before the court, a child who killed what looked like a great big man. John, she called him. He was her mother's boy friend. The child was the daughter of the second marriage, and there were two more to follow, and then there was this bodyguard of Mickey Cohen's, who introduces himself over the telephone and became, uninvited, the master of the household. And the mother becomes scared of him.

What a scene for bringing up a normal healthy child! So the little girl listens outside the door, while mother and the hood quarrel and he threatens to cut up her face. We do not need to know why. We only need to know that a child has been listening at the door to all the filth that must have been part of such a conversation. We now know from the ghoulish letters, what kind of people these were.

Then it is over. The child seized a knife to prevent the hoodlum from cutting up her mother's face. How many children in such miserable environments would like to do just that? How many of them will wonder when they grow older what has happened to their childhood? Did they have dolls or only hoods?

Society established the family as the fundamental of all social institutions. The family consists normally of one father, one mother and children. Sometimes a parent dies and there is, after a decent interval, another parent. Unless parents are decent, what can they expect of children?

Perhaps Walter Winchell epitomized the force of the era when he wrote, in relation to this case: "It must be a terrible thing to force a man and a woman to live together, who can't enjoy each other." This is a characteristic point of view and represents a period in American social relationships. But what about the children of such a marriage? Are they to be sacrificed to the parents' inability to enjoy each other? Are they to be destroyed? In countries where harems exist or where concubines flourish under one roof, children are reared in an atmosphere of intrigue and hatred and jealousy. I have known the intimacies of such homes and speak not by hearsay. Children can grow like weeds in such an atmosphere. Parents can destroy children without killing them. Parents can distort the minds of children by their misconduct and by vicious examples.

Just as Sputnik I shocked this country, even slightly, out of its complacency and forced us to review our ideas about education, so the case of Cheryl Crane, Lana Turner's daughter, must stir this nation to think seriously of marriage and children and home. In the upbuilding stage, nations are generally puritanical; when looseness of living is permissible, the down-going stage of history is evident.

Secretary Dulles Gets Involved In Competition Of Cockroaches

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—American diplomats rubbed their eyes last week when they read a cable flashed across the Atlantic: "Please inform which dish of cockroaches broken (signed) Dulles."

The cable, signed by the distinguished Secretary of State, pertained to the death of 36 cockroaches sent by the United States to participate in the Brussels World Fair.

The lowly bugs had been shipped to Brussels as part of the cold war between the east and west. To some extent they were to prove that the USA could raise bigger and better bugs than are raised behind the Iron Curtain—and how to raise them.

Three shipments of cockroaches were sent to Brussels—a common, kitchen variety untouched by science; a puny, pitiful variety injected with aureomycin; and a third batch of super-duper cockroaches fed with vitamins. The latter were bugs that the free world could really be proud of healthier, more virulent than any Communist bug that had to scrounge for a living in the slave world.

Furthermore, an interesting point was being made by these cockroaches. Though housewives regard cockroaches as parasites, it seems that cockroaches themselves have parasites. And in the cockroaches which had received aureomycin, the parasites had been killed, which interfered with their digestion and made them puny.

Unfortunately for the battle of the bugs between east and west, the displays of cockroaches were crushed en route to Belgium and the cockroaches killed. Hence the cable: "Please inform which dish of cockroaches broken—Dulles."

Secretary Dulles, of course, automatically signs every cable leaving the State Department, so it's doubtful whether he knew much about the competition of the cockroaches. At any rate, the problem was taken to the National Academy of Sciences, which, having no replacements on hand, sent rush orders to the University of Minnesota for three dozen more cockroaches.

Until they arrive, Americans at the Brussels Fair have to resort to colored pictures to show the achievements of the American cockroach in the battle between east and west.

Scaring The Taxpayers

Internal Revenue officials are getting chuckles out of this story about two clergymen and a revenue agent who died at the same time and approached the heavenly gates together. After looking them over, St. Peter first beckoned the tax collector into heaven, later admitted the two clerics.

The latter were puzzled and somewhat affronted. One of them complained: "With all due respect to your judgment, we have always thought that we led exemplary lives, exhorting our fellow men to do good and abide by the Bible. Why then does this layman, this revenue agent, take precedence?"

"What you say may be true," agreed St. Peter. "However, this man has scared hell out of more people than both of you together."

Sidelights

Gov. Price Daniel of Texas is running so scared for re-election that he's almost become a friend of the people . . . Careful Sen. Lyndon Johnson and family ride coach when they fly from Texas back to Washington . . . Roumanian Minister Silviu Brucan is practicing wha the State Department preaches—people-to-people friendship. Roumania is now completely open to American tourists; the Roumanian Dance ensemble will tour the USA this fall; the Minister himself set out to get better acquainted with the USA by taking a trip to the west coast. At the University of California he visited the social science department; his wife, the engineering department. Madame Brucan, one of the most charming members of the diplomatic corps, is a graduate engineer, specializing in petroleum. Texas oilmen offered her a job if she ever leaves diplomacy . . . The State Department got a break when George Harrison, president of the Railway Clerks, was named chairman of the AFL-CIO committee on international affairs. Harrison, a long-time "good-will" ambassador for labor, has trade-union friends all over the world.

Merry-Go-Round

Col. Robert Guggenheim, ex-Ambassador to Portugal, of the Guggenheim copper fortune, boasted to friends the other evening that he had just helped christen his great-grandson. "It was your great-granddaughter," gently reminded his wife Polly. . . . Milton Hill, public relations man for National Airlines and an organizer for Ike's 1952 campaign train, who got himself all snarled up in testimony before the Harris Committee regarding wire pulling for Channel 10 in Miami, will probably not face a grand jury investigation for possible perjury. Attorney General Rogers called a grand jury on ex-FCCommissioner Mack, a Democrat . . . Hill boasts that he wrote speeches for Vice President Nixon . . . It's interesting that campaign literature for Adm. John G. Crommelin, segregationist candidate for Governor of Alabama, is being circulated as far away as California, an integrationist state. The literature reads: "Safeguard the white race and Alabama's security—elect a native Alabaman, lifelong Democrat, Rear Admiral John G. Crommelin." It also advocates "freeing the press from the Communist-Jewish news quarantine." Crommelin was kicked out of the Navy when he made weird charges against the Air Force in the B-36 controversy and his literature for Alabama governor is now being distributed in Negro voting areas in California.

Menshikov Used Food As A Weapon In Poland

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — For several weeks now the American people have been told that the new Soviet Ambassador, Mikail Menshikov, is a nice fellow and that maybe, if he is a typical example, the Communists aren't such bad folks after all. So the new envoy has ben wined and dined, visiting delegations of Americans at the Embassy here have been charmed by his smile, and he has has been invited to sit down with some of the capitalistic elite in the Midwest.

But what is the true background of Mikhail Menshikov, and why, it might be asked, hasn't public attention been called to it before? For in the official proceedings of the Congress of the United States there is a record of his willingness to let human beings starve in order to further the Communist cause. This is in the report of a subcommittee of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs printed in 1946 after a study in Eastern Europe from August to October 1945. The report tells the sad story of what four members of Congress found out about Mr. Menshikov's cruelty to hungry men, women and children in Poland. Here is the full text of an extract from that report to Congress:

"The committee made some effort to investigate the operation of UNRRA (United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration) in Poland but unfortunately was somewhat limited in its efforts due to the fact that UNRRA had not as yet had sufficient opportunity to become organized upon a permanent basis. However, under the temporary arrangements that had been concluded, the committee was deeply disappointed in both its operation and the distribution of its supplies.

"The temporary head of the UNRRA delegation was Mikhail Menshikov, a Soviet citizen, who wielded great control and influence over the distribution of UNRRA's yet meager supplies. The distribution was limited to recipients who were active supporters of or collaborationists with the provisional Polish government.

"Upon the committee's return to this country, it lodged a strong protest with the President of the United States and was happy to learn that soon thereafter Mr. Menshikov was recalled and his place taken by Brig. Gen. C. M. Drury of Canada. Since the committee's return to the United States, it has kept in close and direct contact with UNRRA operations in Poland and has noted great improvement both in the operation and in the distribution of relief supplies."

Three of the four members of the above-mentioned committee are still in Congress — Representative Thomas S. Gordon of Illinois, Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee, and Representative Frances Bolton of Ohio, Republican, and Karl Mundt, Republican, now Senator from South Dakota.

Since Mr. Gordon is temporarily out of the country, this correspondent interviewed Representative Bolton and Senator Mundt. Mrs. Bolton said:

"Yes, I remember the experience and what we found. Unless a person was a Communist, he didn't get anything to eat. It was a very bad situation, and the people who needed our food most didn't get it. Mr. Menshikov was to blame for what happened and we said so plainly on our return to Washington."

Senator Mundt, confirming this, said:

"That is correct. As stated in the report, Menshikov was distributing these UNRRA supplies to the Communists and not to the other people — and claiming credit for the Soviets, rather than for this country. The Soviets were contributing very little, if anything, to this relief agency. By getting the leadership echelon partly into the hands of the Russians, they very skillfully maneuvered their people at the top in these countries which even then, I suppose, they had in mind taking over. This was a very handy tool to win friends and influence people — that's what they used it for."

When Ambassador Menshikov came to Washington, he was received with open arms by various persons here. He was given time on television and he was publicized widely as exuding the best of feelings toward the American people. Yet behind the mask of smiles is a cruel streak. Here is a man who abused his trusteeship as the custodian and distributor of food to starving people. He was the agent of an international relief organization, but his first allegiance was to Communism — he was willing to see human beings suffer unless they accept Communist domination, even while he used relief supplies to reward those who were politically on his side. It is a sorrowful chapter. It is not important alone as a revelation of what one Communist did, but it's an example of the tyranny and inhumanity which lie behind the whole Communist creed and the Communist government.

One wonders why the Department of State didn't look up the record before giving its approval to Mr. Menshikov as an ambassador to the United States. For every government has a right to decide whether an individual is "persona grata" — acceptable to it — and certainly the record shows Mr. Menshikov had committed a serious offense against the American as well as the Polish peoples. With such a record revealed, Mr. Menshikov's usefulness in America can be considered at an end. His own government ought to recall him and, meanwhile, American organizations should hesitate to invite to their rostrums and banquet tables anyone who has such a record of willful cruelty to human beings. If they do, such functions should be picketed by those who wish to register a protest against inhumanity.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Our slight recession didn't affect the rest of the world too much. Just a little more protective excelsior in its relief packages.

Over in Africa the giraffes pulled in their necks. In Australia the pigmies didn't put so much return postage on their boomerangs.

But the twin Bedouins and the loose-lipped Ubangis still got their daily racing forms. And we furnished free spare parts for the head-shrinkers' do-it-yourself kits.

This is the land where we put picture windows in junkyard fences. We spend more on a rabbit hunt than the Gikwar of Baroda does on a honeymoon.

Even our second-best is first choice in Europe. Our only retrenchment was to cut the motor cars down to fit the garages.

We're the original neck-of-the-bottle babies. Sometimes we knock over our first stack of chips going in for the second.

When you start twisting the law of supply and demand you wind up with a wrist-lock on a deficit. You get out of that by borrowing from Peter to pay Paul. And standing off Paul.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

Two more books. That is all. After that, I will loaf. I loaf hard. When I am lazy. I refuse to get off my back to answer a phone or get a glass of water. The two books will be finished this year. One is called "Go With God," a book of favorite prayers from all over the world. The other is called "The Time Of The Traitors." It's about the atom spies.

That will make ten books in all. All that I have to say, all that I want to say, is in those ten volumes. If I don't quit now, I'll start to say the same things over again. I've never read a book of mine. When they are published, I examine them with shaking hand and constricted throat, but I will not read them. When you have lived with a subject two years or more, it becomes sickening.

I don't regret having written any of the books—even the failures. There was, I like to think, a sensible idea behind each one. "The Glass Crutch" was the first. It was a biography of an alcoholic named William Wynne Wister. He was 44 at the time, a lot more sober than a judge, and he had sufficient courage to want to tell the truth about his drinking.

The second was "Parish Priest" (practically all of these are out of print, so discount the notion that I am giving my work a free boost) and this was also a biography. The subject was Monsignor Leroy McWilliams of St. Michael's in Jersey City. Few people know this, but the monsignor did most of the work on the book and, in fact, wrote the entire first draft. I just polished his commas and took the money.

Next was "The Mark Hellinger Story. It didn't sell well. Columbia Pictures is about to shoot a feature film on Mr. Hellinger's life. If you ask me which of the books is my favorite, I'd say this one.

I had dinner with a fascinating psychiatrist one night: Dr. Richard H. Hoffmann. We talked about murder cases and found that we had both worked on a Long Island murder case, although we had not met. The case involved the poisoning of a wife by her lady friend. The husband of the murdered woman died in the electric chair and I felt that it was a miscarriage of justice. Dr. Hoffmann felt that the husband was guilty.

This hardly makes for good collaboration, but we wrote a book called "The Girl In Poison Cottage." It brought the old Creghton-Applegate murder back into the limelight for a moment, then it faded into darkness.

"The Making Of a Priest" was privately published in the archdiocese of Newark. It was a biography of Monsignor Michael J. Mulligan, who is pushing his way past 80. My interest was not so much in his priestly character as in his family life in Clinton, New Jersey. The Mulligans led an old-fashioned life of winter sleighbells and summer picnics and kinship among all members of the family and they were all buried in a big common plot. They don't make them like the Mulligans no more.

My first lucky book was "The Day Lincoln Was Shot." It was the first of "the day" books. Now there are many and it proves a point. I had felt that if you could find the single most dramatic day in a man's life, and tell it in book form by the hour, that it would be more intriguing than a straight biography. The Lincoln book required 24 years of off-and-on research and 35 days of writing.

I spent a year with Jackie Gleason, in and around the office, his friends, his enemies, his old neighbors, researching "The Golden Ham." The book was harsh and truthful. Mr. Gleason didn't like it. I did. The best that can be said for this biography is that it won the University of Illinois Benjamin Franklin Award for the best story about a person living or dead. It didn't sell enough copies to fill a 21-inch screen.

Joe Sage, an editorial writer, asked me to write "The Day Christ Died." This was written in the manner of the Lincoln book and again the formula of writing in detail about a single day proved to be popular. It was selected by six bookclubs and has been translated into many languages, including, of all things, Japanese.

My daughter Ginny and I have been working on "Go With God" for four years. Finding the favorite prayers of Mr. Eisenhower, David Ben-Gurion, Madame Chiang Kai-shek and hundreds of others has been a chore. It is nearly finished.

"The Time Of The Traitors" will not be published for a year. This one will tell the truth about the Rosenbergs, Dr. Klaus Fuchs and Allan Nunn May. So far, there are 3,200 pages of notes. I hope to make this book more accurate than the two Communist dissertations now in your public library. According to those books, the United States is guilty of stealing its own atom bombs.

Loafing, of course, can be tiresome. . .

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A research group in Providence hospital, Detroit, is evaluating the effect on rheumatic fever of phenolic compounds which are related chemically to aspirin. The results are startling. Some of these products led to rapid recovery from rheumatic fever, with lowering of temperature, relief of symptoms, and protection of the heart. If these results are confirmed, the drugs represent a marked advance in the treatment of rheumatic fever.

Salicylic acid (aspirin) has been used successfully for 80 years in this disease and our researchers are trying to find out what ingredient in aspirin has this effect; it has some of the characteristics of the hormones, ACTH and cortisone. Dr. Norman E. and Dr. Charles N. Clarke and Robert E. Mosher, Ph.D., tried at least 10 phenolic compounds containing slight changes in the basic formula of aspirin. Some of these variations are new compounds.

One 6 year old boy was acutely ill with rheumatic fever. He was listless, mentally dull, had painful, swollen joints, a pulse of 140, and a loud murmur over the heart. He was started on 2, 3, 6-trihydroxy benzoic acid and the next day was cheerful and mentally alert; there were no signs of joint involvement, the heart was beating more slowly, and the murmur was diminished. On the sixth day the pulse was 80 and it then fell to 74. After 10 days of treatment, the heart sounded normal.

Similar results were noted in other patients with other phenolic compounds. There seemed to be a direct relationship between the severity of the disease and the behavior of the drugs. The Detroit physicians concluded that this type of medication is utilized by rheumatic fever patients as a natural substance which seems to bolster the affected tissues.

It has been known for some time that the powerful antirheumatic hormones, ACTH and cortisone, act much like aspirin, and many physicians believe the chemical components are related. The phenolic drugs had the same psychologic effects as the hormones—mild euphoria and a sense of well being—without the side reactions.

FOR EXTERNAL USE

P. S. E. writes: If a person drinks rubbing alcohol, will he develop convulsions and blindness or die?

REPLY

The internal use of methyl (wood) alcohol often leads to convulsions, blindness, and death. But most rubbing alcohols—like alcoholic beverages — contain ethyl alcohol. Cocktails of rubbing alcohol are not recommended, however, because other ingredients in the compound may have an adverse effect upon the system.

PULSATING AFTER EATING

R .L. writes: What causes the stomach to pulsate after eating?

REPLY

The aorta is the only pulsating structure in the abdomen. A full stomach may press on this large vessel in such a way that the pulsation is transmitted through the stomach. This may not occur when the gastric pouch is empty.

HEART VALVE SURGERY

Mr. F. writes: My husband needs his heart valve repaired. Is is a serious operation?

REPLY

Such operations are serious but, in the hands of a skilled cardiac surgeon, the mortality is less than 5 per cent.

TOMORROW: Our medical schools.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted Dr Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

What constitutes a "perfect woman"? Well, here's the Hindu recipe: "Take the lightness of the leaf and the glance of the fawn; the gaiety of the sun's rays and the tears of the mist; the inconstancy of the wind and the timidity of the hare; the vanity of the peacock and the softness of the down on the throat of a swallow. Add the harshness of a diamond, the sweet flavor of honey, the cruelty of the tiger, the warmth of fire, and the chill of snow, the chatter of the jay and the cooing of the turtledove. Melt and mingle these ingredients and woman is the result."

What makes a woman march resolutely into a store to buy something? Margaret Kennedy lists these eight reasons: (1) Because her husband says she can't have it. (2) It will make her look thinner. (3) It comes from Paris. (4) Her neighbors can't afford it. (5) Nobody has one. (6) Everybody has one. (7) It's different, and (8) (most likely) "Because."

You're Telling Me

Spring Meal With Broiled Shoulder Lamb Chops

What could be more refreshing than a springtime meal that introduces new tastes for winter-tired palates! With delicately flavored lamb chops highlighting the menu and a delightful dessert of rhubarb pineapple pie, the meal is as exciting as the first glimpse of a budding tulip.

So, cast aside those winter menus; it's time to serve an enticing meal, such as this:

Broiled Shoulder Lamb Chops
Parsleyed Potatoes
Garden Fresh Peas
Tomato and Cucumber Slices
Homemade Rolls
Coffee Tea Milk
Rhubarb Pineapple Pie

Lamb chops can be cut from the loin, leg, or shoulder section of lamb. Each of these chops is easily recognized. For example, shoulder chops contain either the round or blade bone — the round bone chops have the most meat, the least bone.

The lean, tender texture of lamb allows the meat to be prepared by dry cookery methods—it's easily roasted, broiled, or pan-broiled. For quick-cooking, broil lamb chops cut ¾ to 1-inch thick. The flavor of lamb blends well with many seasonings; try sprinkling chops with garlic or celery salt instead of salt and pepper.

How To Broil Lamb Chops

Preheat the oven for broiling. Slash the edges of the fat in several places to prevent curling during broiling. Place the meat in a rack so the top surface of the meat is approximately 2 to 3 inches from the course of heat for 1-inch thick cuts. Broil one side to the preferred doneness, season, turn, and broil the other side. Chops cut 1-inch thick should be well done when cooked 7 to 8 minutes per side. To test for doneness, cut a small gash close to the bone and note the color of the meat. Season and serve.

You'll find that the filling of this rhubarb pineapple pie is delicious in a flaky pie crust made of lard. Pastry made with lard is not only tender and flaky, but also has a nut-like flavor.

Rhubarb Pineapple Pie

CRUST:
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup lard
5 to 6 tablespoons water

FILLING:
1¼ cups sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
6 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
3½ cups diced rhubarb
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple drained
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl. Add lard and cut into the flour until mixture resembles cornmeal. Add water, sprinkling it over one portion of the dough at a time and blending in gently with a fork. Shape into a ball; divide into two parts. On a lightly floured pastry cloth roll half the dough to ⅛-inch thickness. Line a 9-inch pie pan with dough.

For filling, combine sugar, cinnamon, flour, and salt. Mix with rhubarb, pineapple, and orange rind. Pour into pastry lined pan. Dot with butter or margarine. Roll remaining dough to ⅛-inch thickness and place on filling, seal edges by pressing with tines of a fork, and gash top in several places. Bake at 425°F. for 35 minutes, or until rhubarb is tender. Garnish with fresh strawberries.

Frozen Roasts

Frozen roasts can be cooked in the same manner as fresh roasts except that it will take ⅓ to ½ again as long for the cooking time.

Meat At Breakfast

Breakfast, in many ways, is the most important meal of the day. It supplies us with the basis for the morning activities — study, work or play. Meat in the breakfast menu provides high quality protein which gives us that get-up-and-go feeling, it helps to prevent mid-morning lag and helps restrict those high-calorie snacks that so often are part of the morning coffee break.

Lunch Meat Has Smart, Tart Topping

Budget blues seem to haunt homemakers especially at income tax time. However, we still must think of nutrition, color, and flavor appeal in menus, whether our budget is stationary or expanding.

If there is a can of luncheon meat on your pantry shelf, try Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping.

It's an economy treat designed to look as if it's a gourmet's special request.

A 12-ounce can of luncheon meat is cut into 8 slices and broiled for 5 minutes. Then the top of each slice is spread with a tart, perky combination of lemon juice, salad dressing, pickle relish, chopped parsley and a beaten egg white. These ingredients are folded together thoroughly and spread over the individual slices. Pimiento strips add the color complement. These slices are then returned to the broiler until the topping is lightly browned, about 2 minutes and presto, the Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping is ready to serve.

Luncheon Meat—Tart Topping

1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
2 tablespoons salad dressing
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 egg white, beaten
16 small strips of pimiento

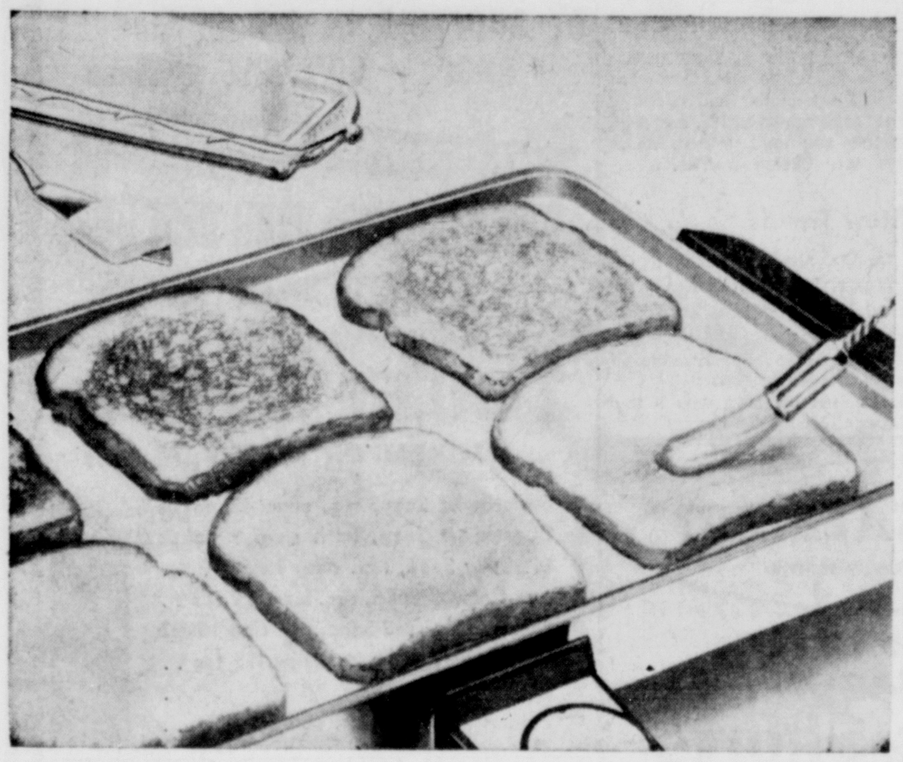

Cut luncheon meat into 8 slices. Combine lemon juice, salt, pepper, salad dressing, pickle relish and parsley. Fold into unbeaten egg whites. Set regulator for broiling. Place luncheon meat on broiler rack so the top surface of the meat is two inches from the heat. Broil 5 minutes or until lightly browned. Turn, spread egg white mixture on meat slices. Place 2 strips of pimiento on each slice. Broil until topping is lightly browned, about ½ minute. Yield: 4 servings.

Fig Creme

1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ teaspoon lemon extract
Dash, salt
4 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons grated lemon rind
3 cups fig bar cubes, ¼ inch

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — It seems to me that the President is on the right track in countering the Soviet proposal to stop testing nuclear weapons with the reminder that the logical move is to ban the manufacture of such weapons altogether. But I want to emphasize that such a ban must include provision for an adequate inspection system.

The Soviet can prove to the world that the present proposal to stop testing is not just another propaganda trick, by agreeing to the President's suggestion that now is the time for technicians to prepare plans for adequate inspection. It is true that no inspection system can be absolutely cheat-proof. But our scientists assure us that inspection of a suspension of tests or of a halt in the production of fissionable materials for weapons could be made tight enough to make the risks acceptable.

The banning of the manufacture of nuclear weapons and a plan for the gradual reduction of atomic weapon stockpiles would be a significant step toward real disarmament. A successful beginning along these lines would release manpower and money for the further application of the energy of the atom to peaceful uses.

The Internal Revenue Service has announced that teachers can now deduct from their taxable income, expenses incurred voluntarily for further education. Under the new Treasury ruling, teachers who go to summer school or take special courses to improve themselves, may now deduct from gross income the expenses of such schooling, even if not required as a condition for holding their jobs. Secretary William G. Carr of the National Education Association says the new Treasure regulation is "the most significant step ever taken by the United States Government to improve the economic status of teachers and their professional qualifications."

Lamb Garnishes

A pretty and pert garnish for a leg of lamb might well highlight mint. Simply mix ½ cup mint jelly in 2 egg whites. Beat mixture until stiff. Place a large spoonful of mint-meringue mixture into the cavity of either peach or pear halves. Place under the broiler just long enough for the meringue to brown. This will yield 8 to 10 peach or pear garnishes.

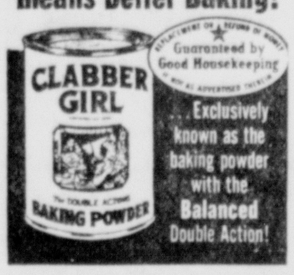

Braised Pork

If serving braised cubes of pork and are in quest of an accompaniment, simply turn to Chinese noodles, rice or noodles.

HERE'S A Baking Day SECRET

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

Use Leftovers In Midget Ham, Macaroni Muffins

Just four ingredients and 45 minutes and you're all ready to sit down to a meal of Individual Ham and Macaroni Muffins. It's ground smoked ham and ground lean pork you'll find in these macaroni muffins. Time you try 'em and see for yourself.

Many homemakers are in an occasional dilemma concerning the use of leftovers. Actually it is the smart homemaker that plans on leftovers.

For the homemaker that plans on a cured pork roast for a Sunday dinner, it is a lifesaver to have this recipe for Individual Ham and Macaroni Muffins at your finger tips.

Easily prepared, this recipe calls for ground smoked ham, ground lean pork, cooked macaroni and cheese and an egg.

For a large family, the recipe is easily doubled. Undoubtedly, the men of the household would enjoy two or three of these muffins. Menu accompaniments might include a green vegetable, tossed salad, salt sticks and an ice cream sundae.

Ham, Macaroni Muffins

1 pound ground smoked ham
½ pound ground lean pork
2 cups cooked macaroni and cheese
1 egg

Combine all ingredients thoroughly, cutting macaroni into small pieces. Grease 12 small or 8 medium size muffin pans. Fill pans with meat mixture. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 minutes. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Pinwheels Make Most Of Beef

Give half a pound of ground beef a big "build-up" by rolling it up in biscuit pinwheels. Results: "Good as all get out." Here's how. Brown the ½ pound ground beef with ½ cup chopped onion in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Season with ½ teaspoon salt. Oepn a can of beef gravy (10¾ ounces) and pour ¾ cup of this gravy in with meat. Meanwhile mix some biscuit dough (2 cups biscuit mix). Roll out dough to form rectangle about ¼-inch thick. Spread meat on dough; roll "pinwheel" fashion. Cut into 8 slices. Place on cookie sheet; bake at 450°F. about 12 minutes or until lightly browned. Heat remaining gravy to pour over pinwheels. Appetizing with buttered succotash and fruit salad.

Cheese Waffles

(Makes two 9-in. square waffles)

2 cups sifted flour
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 cup water
2 tablespons butter, mlted
1 cup grated (½ 8-oz. package) sharp cheddar cheese.

Sift together flour, instant nonfat dry milk powder, baking powder and salt into a bowl. Beat egg yolks well; combine with water and slightly cooled melted butter. Pour into bowl, mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold beaten egg whites and grated cheese into milk mixture. Bake in moderately hot waffle iron for about 4 minutes or until medium brown. Serve topped with Creamed Chipped Beef.

Lunch Treat

Pour a curry sauce over cooked rice and top with deviled eggs. Heat quickly in the oven. Serve with flaked coconut, chutney, salted peanuts for a party lunch.

Exact Heat Important For Roasts

The meat story is a familiar one to Reba Staggs, a home economist who has spent much time in conducting and analyzing meat cookery experiments.

It's natural, therefore, that we turn to her knowledge concerning the question, "What is the value of a roast meat thermometer in meat cookery?"

Very simply, a roast meat thermometer is used to determine the internal temperature or degree of doneness of the meat cut being roasted. Of course, you can prepare a roast by simply knowing its weight and estimating the number of minutes per pound to allow when the meat is cooked at a specific oven temperature.

But with a roast meat thermometer, meat can be cooked just as you like it. There's no guess work involved in cooking meat rare, medium or well done.

Distractions may cause the homemaker to forget exactly when the roast is to come from the oven . . . but with a roast meat thermometer, this uncertainty is removed by a quick glance into the oven.

It's important, yet easy, to learn how to use a roast meat thermometer. These thermometers are designed to register the extent of the doneness of meats in degrees Fahrenheit. The bulb of the thermometer should be inserted into the center of the largest muscle of the roast. Care must be taken so the bulb is not resting in fat or on bone. This is important so that the true internal temperature of the meat will be registered.

When planning to serve a roast, the homemaker must remember that the temperature of the roast usually rises if the meat is permitted to stand before carving. This rise may vary from 2 to 15 degrees, depending on several factors.

The two main factors are (1) the oven temperature and (2) the degree of doneness. The higher the oven temperature, the greater the rise after the roast's removal from the oven. The rarer the meat, the more the temperature may be expected to rise. Of course, the longer the meat stands, the greater the rise.

Meat is more easily carved after it is allowed to "stand" or "set" for 15 to 20 minutes. The homemaker who plans to let the roast set any length of time before serving should remove the meat from the oven slightly under the desired doneness.

More and more modern homemakers are accepting the roast meat thermometer as a standard kitchen accessory, and are receiving roasts done to just the right degree of doneness as desired by their families.

Give your wives a hand in planning weekly menus. As one suggestion, you might like to submit a bid for braised beef brisket served with a delicious onion sauce.

HAMBURGER KEBABS — 1½ lbs. ground beef; ⅛ tsp. black pepper; ⅛ tsp. Cayenne; 1½ tsp. salt; 2 tbsp. sour cream; 1 medium onion, minced; 8 mushroom caps; 8 chunks green pepper; French dressing. Mix all ingredients except mushrooms and peppers. Shape into 12 balls. Thread on skewers; 3 to a skewer with mushroom cap and green pepper chunk between hamburgers. Roll skewers in French dressing until vegetables glisten. Then broil on grill or in broiler. Makes 4 super-special servings.

Creamed Chipped Beef

(Makes 4 servings)

3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
6 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 (2½-oz.) jars dried beef

Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until mixture begins to thicken. Melt butter in large skillet; saute onion and dried beef until onions are tender and edges of beef are slightly curled. Add milk sauce, stir until heated. Serve hot over Cheese Waffles.

Stew Trends

A good stew is no hardship to prepare. To dress up this practical and economical dish, simply change it to a meat pie. How? Just top the stew with a biscuit or pastry dough. For another variation, top the stew with a thin layer of corn bread batter.

Tuna Salad

2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle
2 tablespoons chopped onion
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Lettuce
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced

Sweet Potato Pie

⅔ cup dark brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon allspice
2 eggs, beaten
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup rich milk
Pecans
1 unbaked pie shell

Mix all ingredients in order thoroughly. Fill pie shell and bake in a hot (450°F.) oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 325°F. and bake 30 minutes longer. Remove and decorate with pecans. Cool before serving. (Serves 6).

W.Va. To Invoke Tax Penalties On School Aid

Five Counties Named In Action

CHARLESTON (AP) — Penalties against the allocated school state aid for five West Virginia counties were announced Thursday by the State Board of School Finance.

The penalties were applied because the counties' non public utilities property assessments in 1957 did not come up to 40 per cent of appraised value as determined by the tax commissioner's 1956 survey.

The penalties total $192,141. They were arrived at by subtracting from the counties' allocations the same percentage as their property valuations were short of 40 per cent.

For the current year, counties assess 45 per cent on the appraised value of their non-utility property. The following year, the assessment rate will be 50 per cent, at which it will continue.

The state government's program to force counties to raise more for schools started in 1956, when the assessments had to come to 35 per cent of appraised value.

The amount of allocation for each county is decided by the board of school finance according to the "computed" expense of instruction, transportation, general improvement and other current expenses. "Computed" means the expenses are figured as what they would be if educational practices were uniform throughout the state, not as what they actually are.

The five counties penalized fell short of the required assessments by the following percentages. Berkeley, 3.47; Fayette, 3.59; Greenbrier, 4.59; Mason, 4.29; and Wood, .11.

Explorers Begin Rifle Training With PSC Unit

61 Scouts Enroll At First Session

KEYSER — A rifle training course for Explorer Scouts of Tri-Valley District was provided by the members of the ROTC Department of Potomac State College recently in the college gymnasium. Representatives from troops and three posts took advantage of a three-hour program which will lead to an opportunity to qualify for the marksmanship merit badge.

An overflow enrollment of 61 Explorers has necessitated a revision of the three-afternoon program. The second session will be held Saturday, April 19. The modification will send the more experienced boys to the rifle range to fire for record. Sgt. Cecil Roy, who will have charge of all range procedure, estimates that the practice firing and the qualification procedure will consume one and one-half hours. Five boys will fire simultaneously. Present plans call for the third period to be held Saturday, May 3. Additional time will be set up for range work.

Capt. Jack C. Fessenden was in charge of the training classes while Capt. Thomas McBride, Sfc. Donald W. Brenneman, and Master Sgt. Robert N. Good presented parts of the instruction. Two members of the ROTC Corps, Donald Klinestiver and Robert Mintdrop, demonstrated proper procedure.

The first two hours were spent in 20-minute classes which covered sighting, aiming, sling adjustment, positions, trigger squeeze, proper breathing, triangulation and safety. The last hour was devoted to practice with weapons.

Post 26 of Lonaconing had eight boys; Post 86 of Piedmont, two; Post 39 of Keyser, five; Troop 82 of Fountain, four; Troop 63 of Petersburg, four; Troop 54 of Piedmont, three; Troop 34 of Piedmont, three; Troop 30 of Westernport, six; Troop 38 of McCoole, two, and Troop 40 of Elk Garden, 10. No additional boys will be permitted to register.

Keyser was represented by four troops: Troop 27 with one; Troop 58, six; Troop 59, four, and Troop 83, three.

The 14 units were accompanied by 13 scoutmasters, post advisors or adult Scouters. Dr. Paul Giffin had charge of registration. David C. Nuzum was in charge of arrangements.

Oakland Council Adopts Daylight Saving Time

Dr. Baumgartner Is Re-Elected

OAKLAND — The Mayor and Council of Oakland has agreed that the town will again observe Daylight Saving Time, beginning Sunday, April 27.

This is in line with action of council over the past several years. Two years ago the county commissioners agreed to DST also, but last summer no action was taken and Court House activities remained on Eastern Standard Time. It was regarded as certain that no action would be taken by the county this year on the time question.

Street and water—Robert M. Maroney, chairman, Dr. E. I Baumgartner, Carroll E. Miller, Henry W. McComas, John H. Wolf, Eugene Flinn and Mayor Russell Smith.

Finance—Henry W. McComas, chairman, Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, Mayor Smith.

Golf—Eugene M. Flinn, chairman, Carroll E. Miller, John H. Wolf.

Parks and recreation—Carroll E. Miller, chairman, Robert M. Maroney, Eugene Flinn.

Mrs. Gladys Nordeck was reappointed clerk-collector. Others named were Boyd Sanders Sr., magistrate; Clyde C. Sines, street superintendent; James E. Lewis, water superintendent; Henry Arnold, chief of police; Porter DeWitt and Leslie Baker, policemen; James J. Carney, weighmaster. Appointment of a town attorney was deferred until the May meeting.

Upon the recommendation of Cpl. Samuel Conrad of the State Police it was decided to try a three-lane traffic system on Third Street, from Browning's store to the Court House alley on Third Street, with no parking meters on the east side of the street. The town would curb the area around Browning's and provide an entrance and an exit.

Permission was granted to Dr. E. I. Baumgartner to use the town parking lot for a circus for the benefit of the Episcopal Church sometime between May 15 and May 30.

Among other action council authorized Henry Arnold to purchase new police uniforms; raised the amount of fine for parking violations from $1 to $2; granted permission to Southern States to lease ground on Wilson Street for construction of an office addition six by ten feet; took no action on a request from town employes for a wage raise; tabled action on a letter from the mayor of Laurel, asking the towns cooperation in protesting the increase in telephone rates. The Mayor said the Town of Laurel was protesting to the Public Service commission.

Council made arrangements to clean the reservoirs and also to flush the streets. The possibility of a two-way radio for the police car was discussed.

Garrett Co. Board Favors Projects

OAKLAND — Additional school building construction in Garrett County within the next few years received favorable consideration at a recent meeting of the Board of Education.

One construction project is already definite, the new band room for Southern High School, which the board hopes to have completed for use by the time school opens in September. Other improvements are in the proposal stage.

The board approved architects' plans for the new band room and it was hoped the plans would be offered for bids in approximately three weeks. This project also calls for an enclosed corridor extending from the main building to the present shop buildings.

Other proposed building improvements for 1958-59 include:

A library room for Kitzmiller School;

To Cost $100,000

Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, said the estimated cost of the three projects would be in the neighborhood of $100,000. He told the board that over $400,000 remained in the school construction fund for use in the county which could be borrowed and paid back at a low rate of interest over a period of 15 years. He also reported that payment on present school bonds was being made at the rate of about $160,000 annually.

The board also considered the need for an additional room at Yoder School due to increased enrollment there.

He said the board considered favorably all of these projects as soon as suitable financing can be arranged.

The Swan Meadow building committee group is making satisfactory progress in its plan to build for that community a new two-room school building. Construction is being done by a group of people of the community.

Following adjournment, board members inspected the work being done on the annex building and made a trip to Crellin to inspect the condition of Crellin School.

Teachers Needed

Hawkins reported that two resignations due to retirement and one for other causes were the only ones received to date and said he felt the number of vacancies would not be large. He said no one would be employed in the school system in the future who did not hold a college degree, unless on a temporary or emergency basis. He said he felt all vacancies could be filled with teachers with full certification.

The board approved the low bid for a new car for the board, submitted by Sharps Motor company in the amount of $1,488.

Frostburg Lions Launch Clean Sweep Project

Members of the Frostburg Lions Club are shown as they prepared to cover the town and make "a clean sweep" selling brooms with proceeds going towards their project of improving a new park on Federal Hill in ground recently secured from the Borden Mining Company. Frostburg firemen and Arion Band will use the new park for their annual crabfeast held early in the fall. Kneeling in the front left is Dr. Daniel Shupe, general chairman, of the drive. Charles Schutz, captain of one of the teams kneels at the right. Standing at the rear are a number of captains and members of teams. They are (left to right) E. B. Van Fossen, Edward Flanigan, president of the club, William Lemmert and Jesse Jacobs. A house-to-house canvass was made and Dr. Shupe said if anyone was missed and wants to purchase a broom to aid the project they could contact any member of the club and a broom will be delivered. The initial effort was termed "quite successful."

Lonaconing Rotary To Aid Red Cross Blood Program

Young Women's Club Also Volunteers

LONACONING—The Lonaconing Rotary Club has volunteered to recruit blood donors and advertise the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile unit here on Tuesday May 6. Miss Nellie Sloan, Red Cross branch chairman said that the Young Women's Club of Lonaconing has volunteered to do the clerical work and other details on the day of the visit.

The bloodmobile will be at the VFW home here from noon until 6 p. m. on May 6, and Lonaconing Red Cross quota is 100 pints of blood. It is emphasized, Miss Sloan pointed out, that the community benefits from the program because any persons living here, whether they are donors or not, are entitled to free blood if they need it, anywhere in the country. It is necessary therefore, she pointed out that the regular quota of 100 pints be obtained. At the last visit, only 38 pints of blood were donated by local area residents.

Miss Sloan, members of the Rotary Club and local officials urge citizens to take part in this important life-giving program.

Edward McPartland, local postmaster and member of Rotary is chairman of the recruitment campaign, and he too urges as many as possible to donate a pint of blood each on May 6.

Westernport Council Studies Sewage Fee Plans

WESTERNPORT—Mayor Okey E. Michael and Council Wednesday discussed an ordinance to be enacted for setting up sewage regulations and fees. It was suggested that $1 be charged as a sewage fee where the water bill is $3 or less. Above $3 the fee would be one-third of the water bill.

When the Mayor and Commissioners decide where the sewage disposal plant will be erected, sewer locations will be changed. Town officials feel that the cost of a sewer tap of $10 is too low and think that it should be increased.

These same rates would apply to citizens outside the corporation using the town's sewer line who would pay an additional 20 per cent. The town also reserves the right of inspection.

It would be illegal to put into the sewers any ashes, oil, paint, gasoline or anything having a tendency to stop up the sewers. It was ordered that the proposed ordinance be turned over to Horace P. Whitworth Sr., town attorney, for preparation and advice.

Council ordered that the League of Municipalities be asked for a copy of a proposed sewer ordinance; also to ask the City of Cumberland for a copy of its ordinance.

Summer uniforms will be purchased for members of the Police Deparament. Action was taken following the recommendation of Leo Herbert, police commissioner.

Six hundred and 91 garbage cards have been sold to date, according to the report of Mrs. Katherine Dailey, town clerk. That is about 200 less than sold last year.

Assembly Planned

MT. SAVAGE — Dances and stunts will be featured in the assembly program which will be presented in the Mt. Savage auditorium by the girls gym classes on April 23.

Rails Stage Strong Rally To Pace Market Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—Rails mounted an unusually strong rally Thursday and paced the stock market to a sizable advance in active trading.

Seven of the 15 most active stocks were rails. They gained from 1 to around 2 points. Advances in other groups were mainly fractional but there was an assortment of 1 and 2 point rises.

The quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange advanced an estimated $1,400,000,000 based on the hike in the Associated Press average.

Wall Street expectations that the administration's upcoming program to relieve the financial difficulties of the carriers would bring concrete benefits before long accounted for much of the rise in rail shares, brokers said.

They added that the big short interest in rail stocks also served to firm prices in this group. Stocks sold short in expectation of a decline must eventually be bought by the short sellert o repay borrowed stock. This provides a buying cushion.

The AP 60-stock averages rose $1.10 to $163.60 with the industrials up 40 cents, rails up $3.30 and utilities up 20 cents to still another high for the year.

All 15 of the most active stocks advanced.

LaSalle, Fort Hill Open Intra-City Series Today

Three Other County League And Five PVC Battles Scheduled

Fort Hill and LaSalle, the schools that have dominated the county baseball race for the past four years, will meet in the first intra-city game of the season today at 4 p. m., at Fort Hill Field.

During the past four years the Sentinels and Explorers were evenly matched but LaSalle's nemesis was a lad named Jesse Markley, who is no longer around. Markley faced LaSalle seven times during the four seasons and turned in a 6-1 record against the North Centre Street school. His only loss was a 2-1 decision to Bill Roberts in 1956. Jesse won the final game that season, 1-0, and copped both games last year, 4-1 and 5-2, to give the Sentinels a 3-game winning streak at LaSalle's expense.

Major Cavanaugh is expected to depend on Russ Jones for mound duty in today's game while Coach Norman Sell will select his starter from Johnny Hinds or Ed Green.

Both Copped Openers

Fort Hill's defending champions opened the county league season Tuesday with an 8-3 triumph at Mt. Savage while LaSalle was turning back Valley High at Barton, 8-2.

Allegany's Campers will play their second straight game on the road when they tackle Coach "Stony" Jackson's Flintstone Aggies today at Flintstone. Coach Chet Payne's outfit opened with a 5-2 win over Bruce High on Tuesday.

In other county engagements today, Beall opposes Valley High at Barton and Bruce plays host to Mt. Savage High's Indians.

Five Games In PVC

Coach Allen Goldstrom's Berkeley Springs Indians will entertain Capon Bridge High School, Franklin's Panthers invade Circleville, Elk Garden tests the Pioneers at Romney, Fort Ashby hosts the West Virginia School for the Deaf and Petersburg's Vikings do battle with the Yellowjackets at Moorefield.

Diogenes Wins At Gulfstream

MIAMI, Fla., April 17 (AP)—Red Head Stables Diogenes surged to a neck decision today in the $4,000 Date Palm Purse at Gulfstream Park.

Diogenes outfinished Our Guest, owned by D. Ball, in 1:11 for six furlongs. Emil Dust's Royal Jester, the 6 to 5 favorite of the 10,038 bettors, was two and a half lengths behind Diogenes and three and a half lengths ahead of Sess Stucker's Count Swedak.

Cincy Protest Is Disallowed

Redlegs Will Ask Hearing On Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP)—The protest of the Cincinnati Redlegs over the 5-4 victory of the Philadelphia club in the opening baseball game here Tuesday was thrown out by National League President Warren C. Giles Thursday.

The Redlegs promptly announced they would ask Giles for a reconsideration of the ruling and, if possible, a hearing.

Giles referred to a report by Umpire Thomas D. Gorman, who said Richie Ashburn would have scored and Granny Hamner would have reached second even if a spectator had not touched the ball.

Giles said that instructions to umpires last year were that in case of spectator interference it is up to the umpire to determine where the batter or base runner would have been if interference had not occurred.

The Redlegs based their request for a reconsideration of the decision on Rule 3.16 which says that if there is any spectator interference with a thrown ball, except one thrown by the pitcher, the ball shall be dead at the moment of interference.

San Francisco Takes Series From Dodgers

Giants Grab Third Game By Score 7-4

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco's Giants downed the Los Angeles Dodgers 7-4 Thursday and took the National League Pacific Coast inaugural series 2 games to 1.

Don Newcombe, a big right-hander hoping to regain the form that won him 27 games two years ago, started on the mound for the Dodgers but a pulled muscle in his pitching shoulder forced him from the game in the fourth inning after he gave up four of the Giants' 10 hits.

At the time the score stood 4-4 with a count of 2 balls and no strikes on San Francisco's Danny O'Connell. The Giant infielder finished drawing the walk after rookie right-hander Larry Sherry relieved.

Danny's subsequent run put the home club in front to stay. It was charged to Newcombe and that cost him the loss.

Despite sunshine, a chill wind and a 57 degree temperature kept the crowd at a disappointing 12,520, for a three-game total of 58,703.

Tim Tam And Nadir Vie At Keeneland

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky Derby contenders Tim Tam and Nadir match their speed Friday at Keeneland in a ⅛ mile prep that drew six more 3-year-old challengers.

The lineup lists Count deBlanc, Arkansas Derby winner; Roman Bow; Plion, Can Trust, Hillsdale and Sage of Alief in the $4,500 Blue Grass Heights, a testing ground popular with Derby colts in the past.

Hickman Recuperates From Ulcer Attack

Hickman, former football coach who now writes sports for magazines and talks it for radio and television, was stricken at La Plata, Md., three weeks ago. He stopped off there overnight en route to Florida on a business-pleasure trip with Mrs. Hickman.

"I'm way down to 240 pounds now," Hickman reported. "That's 60 pounds under my eating weight."

Potomac State Beats Shepherd In WVIAC Contest, 8-3

Bink Barlow Posts Second Win Of Year

Hurls Five-Hitter, Belts 2-Run Triple, 13 Rams Stranded

By TED TROXELL

Potomac State College opened its West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference schedule today with an 8-3 decision over the Shepherd College Rams behind the five-hit twirling of "Bink" Barlow, who posted his second straight triumph of the season at Stayman Field, Keyser.

The Cheltenham, Pa., southpaw struck out ten and issued 12 bases on balls but only one of the passes figured in Shepherd's scoring. A wild pitch produced that tally in the final frame.

In addition to twirling airtight ball in the pinches, Barlow provided a two-run triple in the sixth inning, driving home Hudock and Wickline, and scoring later on "Skip" Delligatti's single.

Shepherd left a total of 13 runners stranded on the hassocks. Three runners perished on the bases in the third when Barlow struck out Smallwood after he had loaded the bags with free passes. In the 7th, Barlow again loaded the bases on walks but got out of the jam when Smallwood grounded out and Leonard whiffed.

Delligatti pilfered four bases, including a steal of home in the first frame. It marked the second time this season that "Skip" had swiped home. Dick Wickline duplicated the feat in the fourth inning.

Isherwood, Shepherd's starting and losing pitcher, yielded eight hits in six innings, and struck out 10. "Rusty" Gates, former Potomac State hurler, finished on the mound for the Rams.

Delligatti accounted for two of Potomac State's eight hits.

The victory was the second of the season for Coach John Fox's aggregation against three losses and one tie contest. The Catamounts will play Hagerstown Junior College Saturday in the Hub City. Box:

Gerry Staley Stars In Relief For Wynn

CHICAGO (AP)—Ex-Cleveland star Al Smith's first Chicago run production was a two-tally single which started the White Sox to a 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers Thursday.

Although Early Wynn, another ex-Tribeman, was credited with the first White Sox triumph in three starts, he needed fine relief help from Gerry Staley.

Staley supplanted Wynn in the seventh with Tiger runners on third and second and nailed Ray Boone on a foul pop for the third out.

Staley protected the Sox 4-3 lead through the eighth when the Tigers advanced men as far as third and second and in the ninth when Harv Kuenn's one-out double was wasted.

The loser was Frank Lary, first of three Tiger hurlers.

With the score tied 3-3 and two out in the Chicago sixth, consecutive singles by Tito Francona, Smith and Bubba Phillips moved the Sox ahead 4-3.

Triandos, Robinson Hit Round Trippers

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles shut out Washington 4-0 Thursday night on the three-hit pitching of young Milt Pappas and veteran Jack Harshman.

Gus Triandos led the Orioles' attack with his second homer and a double, and Brooks Robinson added a home run and a single.

Harshman was brilliant in relief, allowing only Norm Zauchin's sixth inning single after taking over in the fourth with one out and runners on first and second.

Pappas allowed a first inning single to Herb Plews and another to Berberet in the second but went wild in the fourth. After walking Roy Sievers and advancing him to second on a pitch, the 18-year-old hurler forced Jim Lemon to fly out. But a walk to Zauchin put two runners on and brought Harshman to the mound.

The Orioles scattered their 10-hit attack among seven batsmen as the 19,377 fans saw Triandos lead off the second inning with a 430-foot blast over the left center field fence, and then saw Robinson pole one into the left field bleachers to start the sixth.

The win was the second in a row for Coach Paul Kalbaugh's team while the Lions from Romney went down to defeat for the fourth straight time.

Jerold Milavec, the first of four Elk Garden pitchers, got credit for the win while the loss was charged to Bobby Moon, who gave way to Perry after the Elks scored five runs in the first inning.

Rigney In Hospital, Franks Leads Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Manager Bill Rigney, who left his San Francisco Giant's dugout in the fourth inning of Thursday's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers, was taken to an Oakland Hospital.

Chub Feeney, a Giant vice president, insisted the 40-year-old Rigney is all right and would join the team in Los Angeles Saturday or Sunday.

The teams open a three game series in Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum Friday.

Rigney has a history of ulcers but Feeney said his present trouble is "nothing serious—we don't want to make a big deal of it."

Weaver, Collins Lead Derby Open

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Sparkling 65's by Bert Weaver and Bill Collins set the pace Thursday as par took a plastering in the first round of the Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament.

Seneca Golf Course's 6,526 yards of tree-lined hills—usually considered a rugged test—didn't worry 33 pros who toured the first 18 holes with scores under par of 35-37—72.

The course record was equalled by the efforts of Weaver, a former Louisiana State University star from Beaumont, Tex. and Collins, a Baltimore native playing out of Grossinger, N. Y.

Even so, they had a scant stroke lead over Chick Harbert of Northville, Mich., who put together a string of birdies on the second nine to finish with 66.

Golfer Gets Four For Hole-In-One

Hitting into the wind, Jones slammed a No. 4 wood at the green on the third hole. The ball rolled into the cup, 185 yards away. But a temporary green, 20 yards nearer the tee, was in use.

So Jones had to pitch back and take two putts.

Montreal Canadiens Defeat Boston, 3-2

MONTREAL, April 17—(INS)—The incomparable Maurice (The Rocket) Richard knocked in the winning goal in overtime tonight to give the Montreal Canadiens a 3-to-2 victory over the Boston Bruins in the Stanley Cup championship round.

The goal at 5:45 of the sudden-death period also presented Montreal with a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series for hockey's top prize.

The next game will be played at Boston Saturday and a seventh, if necessary, back in Montreal Sunday.

Johnny Kucks Tames Boston, Yanks Win, 3-1

Mantle's Home Run Is Winning Margin

BOSTON (AP)—Johnny Kucks, supported by a Mickey Mantle homer and a Yogi Berra double, hurled New York to a seven-hit, 3-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox Thursday at Fenway Park.

Jackie Jensen got to Kucks in the ninth for his third home run in four games but the Yankee right-hander settled down after a Frank Malzone single to wrap up the decision.

Ted Williams, who had been sidelined with food poisoning, made his first appearance of the season as a pinchhitter for Boston in the eighth inning and grounded out.

Kucks allowed only one runner to reach second base until Jensen's homer.

Mantle provided what proved to be the winning margin with his first hit of the season in the fifth.

His Pinch Double Defeats A's, 3-2

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mickey Vernon slammed a pinch double to right center with two out in the ninth inning Thursday, driving in two runs to give Cleveland a 3-2 victory over Kansas City's Athletics.

Vernon batted for Jim (Mudcat) Grant, the 22-year-old right-hander who went the route with an eight-hitter in his major league debut. It was the Indians' first victory of the season after a pair of opening losses to the A's.

Until Vernon's clutch hit it looked as if the big bat of Kansas City's Bob Cerv was going to be the deciding factor in a good pitching duel between Grant and Duke Maas.

Cerv, who drove in both Kansas City runs with a single and a sixth inning home run, now has two homers, three doubles and two singles for nine RBI's in the first three games of the season.

Roger Maris opened the Cleveland ninth with a single but was forced at second by Russ Nixon. Larry Doby then struck out pinch-hitting for Bobby Avila. Preston Ward followed with a single to center and Vernon drove home both runners.

Braves Beat Pirates, 6-1, Mathews Clouts 2 Homers

Ed Wallops Third, Fourth Of Season; Burdette Is Victor

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Ed Mathews hit his third and fourth home runs of the season into the far but friendly reaches of County Stadium Thursday as the Milwaukee Braves whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-1.

World Series hero Lew Burdette took up on the mound practically where he left off last fall, although after five innings the Pirates were able to do what the Yankees couldn't do in their last 24 innings against him—score a run.

Last season Mathews didn't hit No. 4 until May 10, in the 20th game, on his way to a season total of 32.

The Pirates, who haven't defeated Burdette since June 20, 1954, pulled even at 1-1 in the fifth when Roberto Clemente tripled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Gene Baker.

The Braves' fifth inning outburst came after starter and loser Vern Law had the first two batters out. Red Schoendienst singled, Bob Hazle walked and Mathews lifted his third homer into the right field bleachers.

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 17 (INS) — That very persuasive Jerry Wald has sweet-talked Clifford Odets out of the new Odets' play "The Story on Page One." Clifford had written this directly for the stage but Jerry wants it for Academy winner Joanne Woodward. He would also like to have Paul Newman, but so far he hasn't been able to get a release from Warner Bros. for the popular Paul.

"Story on Page One" is a murder that involves a young couple and all testimony points to their guilt. In the end they are exonerated. "but how, we are not telling," said Jerry.

I don't know of anyone who has had his life story written at the age of 22, but that's exactly what's going to happen to Johnny Mathis.

Ray Stark has signed him to a contract and his first will be a musical based on the life story of Johnny Mathis. This singer who is such a popular favorite was born in San Francisco and what I didn't know is that when he attended the George Washington School he won all sorts of awards as an athlete.

On my reading table is a copy of Judge Louis H. Burke's "With This Ring," a book I believe married people with problems should read.

Judge Burke did amazing work in the Los Angeles conciliation court. He recently became presiding judge but when he was in the conciliation court he effected 43 per cent reconciliations among couples coming before him, and in one year alone saved 2,000 children from being separated from one parent or the other by divorce.

A blueprint which the judge drew up that has helped many couples has been copied in Japan and Germany as well as the United States. Gordon Gordon, famous mystery writer, lent him a hand and there is now talk that some of the big companies are bidding for "With This Ring."

Queen Soraya is coming to Hollywood with a very definite purpose in mind. She wants to study to be an actress and it's pretty certain she will call on Jack Warner whom she met when she was here with the Shah of Iran.

She receives $60,000 a year, but in her agreement she had to promise not to reveal any of the secrets of her seven years as wife of the king.

Her mother is with her and a maid. As I remember when I met her during her visit here she speaks with a marked accent and this, of course, would have to be remedied.

Behaving in the best tradition of "the show must go on" Susan Hayward was on Walter Wanger's set of "I Want to Live" (the story of Barbara Graham) at 8 o'clock the morning following the death of her mother, Mrs. Ellen Marrenner.

Mrs. Marrenner died suddenly of a coronary thrombosis and Susan was with her at the hospital when her condition became grave, and she made all funeral arrangements. However, she realized that Walter had made one delay after another, not only with her own sicknesses—she had the flu and measles—but the illnesses of other members of the cast as well.

So many sightseers visited the home of Anna Kashfi and Marlon Brando that an electric eye has been added to the gate so that all would-be guests are electrically announced.

Former Columbia actor William Carter and Dwight Deere Wiman's daughter, Nancy Wiman, are saying adieu to marriage.

Joan Fontaine, who took her 12-year-old adopted daughter Marita out of school in Switzerland because she was so homesick, sent her to Joan's mother in Saratoga, California, and she goes to the same school that Joan and Olivia attended.

Eve Arden will learn her lines for "Auntie Mame" aboard ship when she and her husband, Brooks West, sail for Europe. She'll open at the Biltmore Theatre here with Brooks who will play the part of Beauregard, the husband.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Brazil Dredging Fleet

THE HAGUE (AP) — Brazil has ordered a 6½-million-dollar dredging fleet from Netherlands industries to serve the ports of Rio de Janeiro, Recife and Sao Paulo.

WIFE PRESERVERS

If your do-it-yourself is creating a natural-finish wood item, persuade him to wear clean gloves. They'll prevent smudges —which must be sanded out.

Handles of the proper length for you on your brushes, mops, etc., can save you many a backache, as well as adding to your efficiency.

Family Aide

BRISTOL, Va. (AP)—A 15-year-old Bristol youth was charged with 12 counts of breaking-and-entering and larceny and police said it was a family affair. He used his 9-year-old sister to act as "lookout" while he pulled the jobs.

About three miles of laundry are hung on lines by the average American housewife year in and year out.

Teller Opposes Halt In Nuclear Testing

WASHINGTON (AP)—H-bomb expert Edward Teller testified Wednesday any halt in nuclear testing would slow down U. S. efforts to devise a defense against the intercontinental missile.

The bushy-browed Hungarian-born scientist spoke out against all current proposals to suspend nuclear tests — the Eisenhower administration's as well as the Russians'.

He told a Senate Disarmament subcommittee in 2½ hours of impassioned testimony: "If we stop testing, we are stopping at a place where we know how to use nuclear explosions to destroy but not how to improve man's life. . ."

Bids Are Sought For Playground Work

Sealed bids will be received at the City Clerk's office for the installation of a backstop and baseline screen at Stitcher Field, according to Commissioner William H. Buchholtz, who said the bids will be received until 10 a.m. Monday, April 28.

Interested bidders may obtain plans and specifications at his office in the City Hall, Buchholtz said.

The Mayor and Council will reserve the right to reject any and all bids, he added.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	3 no trump	Pass	4 diamonds
Pass	4 spades	Pass	6 no trump
Pass	7 no trump	Pass	Pass
Pass

Opening lead: Eight of clubs.

Counting was essential in both the bidding and play of today's hand to produce a vulnerable grand slam for North and South.

After his partner's three no trump opening, North, holding 10 points in high cards, could have bid six no trump at once (since 10 plus 25 equals 35), but if South has a maximum, a grand slam would surely be within reach (10 plus 27 equals 37).

North temporized by bidding four diamonds and after South's four spade bid jumped to six no trump. Observe that the four diamond call followed by a leap to six no trump is stronger than a direct leap to six no trump, and invites partner to contract for the grand slam if he has a maximum. South decided to accept, holding 27 gilt edged points and two four card suits.

West led the eight of clubs, which declarer took with the king. He observed that there was 12 immediately cashable tricks, with the 13th in hearts if the suit broke normally.

At any rate, South set about to gather complete data on the hand. At the outset, from West's lead of the eight East was marked with at least queen, jack, ten of clubs. After four rounds of spades it was revealed that East held originally five of that suit. Declarer then cashed the three diamond tricks, on the third of which West let go a club, having previously discarded two diamonds while the spades were being run.

From all this evidence declarer concluded that West had left four hearts and a club or possibly five hearts. But if it was the latter, all hope had flown.

Assuming West to have four hearts, hope for the contract rested with finding East with the singleton jack, ten or nine. Accordingly, South led a heart to the ace and the nine fell from East. Declarer then led a low heart and when West played the seven, the eight was inserted by dummy to hold the trick.

Observe that it would have done West no good to split his honors, for declarer can return to the ace of clubs to finesse against the jack-seven of hearts.

Team Effort Is Urged By D'Alesandro

County Democrats Urged To Carry Ticket To Victory

Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr., the Democrat "harmony" ticket's candidate for the U. S. Senate in the May 20 primary election, urged some 200 Allegany County Democrats last night to put forth a "team" effort to carry all four candidates to victory in the November 4 general election.

Mayor D'Alesandro's talk was one of the highlights of a Democratic rally at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street.

The other candidates on the "harmony" ticket also addressed the Allegany County Democrats, but none with more fire than the Baltimore Mayor. They are State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, candidate for Governor; Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert, candidate for re-election, and State Senator Louis J. Goldstein, candidate for State Comptroller.

All Are Winners

All of the speakers emphasized the wide geographical diversity of the candidates and the fact that all have been consistent winners in general elections. William C. Walsh, often called "Mr. Democrat" of Allegany County, stressed that none of the four candidates ever has lost a general election.

In prepared remarks for his appearance here last night, Mayor D'Alesandro emphasized that if elected in November he will be "a liberal Senator."

He remarked that the supreme problem of this age is the establishment of lasting peace. He advocated the reciprocal trade program, adequate foreign aid, strengthening of the military establishment, federal aid to education, and a tax cut, if necessary, to increase purchasing power.

"As a liberal Senator, I would be against the natural gas bill and against all other measures designed to handicap the individual for the benefit of special interests," Baltimore's mayor said.

"As a liberal Senator, I would stand for human dignity and for individual human freedom. You can be sure that my vote on any issue that comes up before the Senate will be counted on the side that best represents the interest of all the people."

"He Who Throws Dirt"

The U.S. Senate candidate drew a laugh at one point in his remarks with the observation that "he who throws dirt loses ground."

Mr. D'Alesandro frankly acknowledged to his audience that at one time he aspired to be Governor of Maryland but switched to the Senate race in the interest of party harmony and to avoid a bitter primary battle.

"Now I find that I have six opponents in this Senate race," he added. That, too, brought a laugh from the crowd.

In their brief remarks, Senator Goldstein and Attorney General Sybert sought to link themselves with Allegany County.

Mr. Goldstein emphasized that he had supported legislation which has resulted in expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College and Miners Hospital, completion of the Savage River Dam and the various road projects which have aided Western Maryland.

Many Countians Serve

The Attorney General cited the number of Allegany County men who have served as his assistants since his election in 1954. He emphasized that the late David Kauffman of this city was an assistant attorney general until his death in Octobe 1956. He noted that Fred Puderbaugh has been a special assistant attorney general attached to the State Roads Commission. He also called attention to the fact that William Walsh, son of William C. Walsh, served as a special assistant during the 90-day session of the General Assembly in 1957.

'Harmony' Comes To Town

The Democratic "harmony" ticket for statewide offices came to Cumberland as a group yesterday to bring its "unity and victory" campaign to westernmost Maryland. After visiting a Kiwanis meeting and touring parts of Allegany County, they appeared at a political rally last night at the Eagles Home. In photo here are (front, from left) C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general, who is unopposed in the primary; J. Millard Tawes, candidate for Democratic nomination for governor; Thomas D'Alesandro, seeking his party's nomination for U. S. Senate; William Walsh, candidate for House of Delegates, and Francis J. Duckworth, candidate for county commissioner; (rear, same order) James P. Russell, candidate for county commissioner; State Senate President Louis Goldstein, candidate for comptroller; Simon F. Reilly, chairman of the harmony ticket's campaign here; Howard P. Loughrie, candidate for sheriff, and John J. Rowan, for county commissioner. Tawes, Sybert, D'Alesandro and Goldstein will tour Garrett County today, and will return here Saturday.

To Be Or Not To Be On TV?

That Is Question For Four Candidates

By The Associated Press

The question of to be or not to be on television was fast becoming the leading hassle among the four leading candidates for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate Friday.

The business started a week or so ago when Clarence Long, Johns Hopkins University economics professor, challenged the other three to an unprepared debate, with each candidate kicking in his share of the expenses.

Last Tuesday, James Bruce took Long up on the offer but said that since his campaign expenses had been allotted, Long would have to foot the entire bill.

On Wednesday, Bruce cancelled out, saying that because of what Long had said, it would be beneath his dignity to go before the cameras with Long.

Then on Thursday, Joseph J. Martin, candidate for chief executive office of Baltimore County, offered to pay for the television time if the four candidates — Long, Bruce, Thomas D'Alesandro and George P. Mahoney — provided they agreed to answer questions "important to the people of Maryland" spontaneously, without any helpful hints.

Long was the first to accept—"eagerly and without reservations."

The professor said Mahoney was being false to his Irish name and the Kelly green he uses on his campaign posters by dodging a fair verbal tussle.

Mahoney, winding up a four-day tour of southern Maryland, said he had received the endorsement of four of the six members of the St. Mary's County Democratic committee.

Underwriters Meet Today

John C. Donohue, general agent in Maryland for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Company, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the Cumberland Life Underwriters Association at noon today in Central YMCA.

Mr. Donohue is well-known in the insurance business, having served as president of the Baltimore Life Underwriters Association. He also served two terms as trustee of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Today's speaker made a TV "first" on New Year's Day when he refereed the Orange Bowl game in Miami, Fla., with a portable microphone hidden under his shirt. Mr. Donohue's explanations were heard coast-to-coast during the football game.

Tawes Advocates Commission On Development

State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, Democratic candidate for Governor, advocated here last night the creation of a Maryland Economic Development Commission with four specific duties.

They would be:

(1) To engage in a program of economic research and planning to assist communities throughout the state to assess their industrial potential, analyze their problems and resources, and recommend the types of industry best suited to the area.

(2) Area development by finding new industries, advising on the formation of industrial development corporations and aiding in fund raising to help a new industry locate within a given county.

(3) Creation of an industrial development to send representatives to industry throughout the country in an attempt to have these industries consider Maryland in any expansion.

(4) Aggressive advertising and promotional campaign in behalf of Maryland's industrial development.

D'Alesandro Favors March On Annapolis

A "March on Annapolis" to get a special session of the General Assembly to expand unemployment compensation coverage in Maryland was suggested last night by Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr., Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate.

In his off-the-cuff remarks at the rally at the Eagles Home he advocated expansion of the unemployment compensation coverage which now ends at 26 weeks. It has been advocated in some quarters that the coverage extend to 39 weeks.

The "March on Annapolis" was cited as one way Governor Theodore R. McKeldin might be impressed to call a special session of the General Assembly to get the necessary legislation.

Student Speakers Cite Driver Education Need

Two high school students agreed yesterday in talks before the Cumberland Kiwanis Club that mandatory driver education for teen-agers before they are licensed would do much to reduce the accident and death rate on the highways of Maryland.

The speakers were Miss Xina Manges, representing Fort Hill High School, and Miss Beth DeHaven, representing Allegany High School. They were adjudged the winners in their respective schools in the 16th annual declamation contest sponsored in the two schools by the Kiwanis Club. The contest began in 1942 and has been continued annually except for 1956.

Miss Manges, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Manges, Pleasant Valley Road, was more objective in her presentation. She acknowledged that such a compulsory driver education would be costly as seven teachers would be needed for every 300 pupils.

The Fort Hill speaker cited the fate of driver education bills in the General Assembly in Annapolis. A bill introduced this year passed the House of Delegates but died in committee in the State Senate.

Miss DeHaven, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. DeHaven, LaVale, was emphatic in her contention that compulsory driver education for teen-age drivers would do much to reduce the number of highway accidents and deaths.

The Allegany High School speaker highlighted her talk by emphasizing that a teen-ager is killed in a highway accident in this country every 52 minutes.

Their audience yesterday included three men who might prove influential in any expanded driver education program in Maryland. They are State Senator Louis L. Goldstein, Democratic candidate for State Comptroller; Baltimore Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro Jr., Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate, and Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert, who seeks re-election on the Democratic ticket.

Others in the audience included Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster, Victor D. Heisey, principal of Fort Hill, and Dr. W. Ardell Haines, principal of Allegany.

The speakers were introduced by James C. Reinhart, who as chairman of the Kiwanis vocational guidance committee, was in charge of the contest.

Paul Revere Stamp Will Immortalize Famous Ride

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

The Post Office Department today will release the new 25 cent denomination of its Liberty stamp series.

It will be the Paul Revere stamp which goes on sale in Boston on the 183d anniversary of the ride which provided the theme for Longfellow's famous poem.

Historians report that at least three other men noticed something was afoot, and spread the word as unofficial couriers.

Paul Revere actually had a great many other claims to fame during his eventful life.

He was baptized January 1, 1735, a son of Apollos Rivoire, a French Huguenot who arrived in Boston in 1715 or 1716 and learned the silversmith's trade.

Paul learned the trade from his father and excelled him, but actually was far more interested in politics as a youth.

He tried his hand at engraving and dentistry but practiced the latter art for only a few years, although he once advertised he had fixed hundreds of teeth so they were not only ornamental but of real use in eating.

Before the Revolutionary War ended, Paul Revere had mastered the secret of making gunpowder and of casting cannons.

He also set up a foundry where he cast bells, and mastered the art successfully.

Late in life, he set up a copper mill in Canton, Mass., which turned out the copper bolts and fittings used for the nation's first ships, the Constitution "Old Ironsides" and the Essex.

The copper rolling mill he established when he was 65 furnished the copper sheets used for sheathing the bottom of the Constitution and for the roof of the Massachusetts State House.

The Gilbert Stuart likeness of Paul Revere has been used for the stamp which will go on sale in the Cumberland Post Office Saturday.

VA CONTACT MAN — Frank T. Trawinski, 41, native of Baltimore, is contact representative at the Veterans Administrations office, Post Office Building, succeeding on a temporary basis Benjamin Flack, who retired. Mr. Trawinski indicated he may be transferred to Perry Point Hospital, where he was assigned for several years, and a permanent successor will be appointed here. Mr. Trawinski came here from the Hagerstown office.

EASTER SEAL LUCKY BUCKS NEEDED NOW

Nearly 100 more Lucky Bucks poured into the coffers of the Easter Seal fund yesterday to bring the total for crippled and handicapped children to $9,083.

Slowly the amount is nearing the $12,000-mark sought by the Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

If you are one of those who haven't had the time to put a dollar in an envelope, mail one now to the League for Crippled Children.

Identity Clarified

Mrs. John Ralph Goss, 132 Mary Street, reported yesterday that Everett Goss, 47, who was sentenced to 60 days in County Jail on Wednesday for contributing to the delinquency of two minors in a theft case, does not live at 136 Mary Street, the address police said he gave them.

Mrs. Goss said 136 Mary Street is a vacant lot which she and her husband own. She said Everett Goss never has lived at 132 or 136 Mary Street.

Temperature Hits 79 Degrees, High For The Year

Robert Golden, official weather observer in Constitution Park, said the mercury had been rising steadily all week and hit the season's high yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Golden said the pleasant weather experienced here this week is the warmest since last fall. Monday the temperature hit 69 degrees; Tuesday, 74 degrees, and Wednesday, 72 degrees, according to Mr. Golden.

The prediction for today calls for more of the same warm weather with the temperature expected to be in the high 70s again.

Civil Appeals Cases Heard In Court Here

A number of civil appeals were disposed of yesterday by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Jacob V. Wilson was awarded $172.83 damages in a suit which he had brought against Lacy L. Tinsley. When the case was first heard by Trial Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer in Westernport, Wilson was awarded $266.65 and the defendant appealed.

Howard N. Wright and Madeline S. Wright were awarded a $60 verdict in a suit which they brought against William Zapf. Earlier the Wrights had been awarded $97.50 by Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick and the defendant appealed.

Judge Harris ruled in favor of William Charles Walters in the amount of $216.83 in his suit with Leo V. Elbon.

Two suits were consolidated, one filed by Walters in Trial Magistrates Court against Elbon, and the other filed by Elbon against Walters in Circuit Court.

The hearing resulted from the wreck of the cars driven by the two men on Route 220 at Danville on November 10, 1955, during a snow storm.

Gorman E. Getty represented Walters and William S. Geppert and Earl E. Manges for Elbon.

Scheduled for trial but marked stet in the docket was the case of the Mayor and City Council against Edgar Thomas Hardin Jr., who now is a resident of Milwaukee.

He had been sentenced to 30 days in jail on a chronic alcoholic charge, but he appealed the case. However, Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said he was unable to be here and the case was marked stet, which means it is inactive, but can be reopened at any time.

In another case, through agreement of counsel, Judge Harris ordered a verdict in the case of John Collins vs. W. S. Bartlett in favor of the defendant.

Edwin Horchler, attorney for the plaintiff, informed the court he had made repeated attempts to contact his client, but was unable to do so.

Street Oiling Program May Begin Monday

Fayette St. Area Is Barricaded

The City of Cumberland will begin oiling its more than 22 miles of unpaved streets Monday if the weather stays clear, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz announced yesterday.

The first 1958 order for oil was placed by the city yesterday. The 1,000-gallon shipment will be sufficent, Mr. Buchholtz said, to get the work of repairing winter damage under way.

The street oiling plan is being started earlier than usual, he said, because of the exceptionally heavy damage from freezing and thawing over winter.

When these connecting streets are oiled, Mr. Buchholtz said, crews will move to South Cumberland to oil streets in the Mapleside section.

Must Be Dry

A heavy rain would delay the program as the surface must be dry when oil is applied or it will not be absorbed.

Use of light surface treatment, Mr. Buchholtz said, has lopped at least 11 miles of streets from the unpaved status.

To speed the work of street cleaning and repair, the city is advertising for bids for a street sweeper, air compressor, grader and bituminous spreader.

The equipment will make it possible for the Street Department to keep two street sweeping and two oiling crews in operation, officials said.

Street Heaves Up

The area was barricaded and is slated for repairs this morning.

City officials attributed the buckling of the street to the quick warmup and to the damage done by heavy trucks which have been using the street.

Mr. Buchholtz said that area of Fayette Street was built for residential use and just does not have the base needed to withstand the constant pounding of heavy trucks and tractor-trailer rigs.
